

ASSOCIATED BUYERS / WHOLE FOODS VENDOR GUIDE

A Brief Overview

Associated Buyers currently distributes approximately 1,500 items to 2 regions of Whole Foods. We have been doing business with WF for more than 14 years developing a true partnering relationship with each region's Grocery Department. We also have a few items in the Specialty & Prepared Foods departments as well, and look forward to growing these relationships.

North Atlantic Region – this currently consists of 27 stores covering Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode – Island, & Eastern Connecticut. The regional headquarters is based in Cambridge, MA. We deliver to all these stores via our own Associated Buyers trucks once a week and if a second delivery is required we either do via our trucks or common carrier to those stores farther out. We are able to do frozen and refrigerated products to all the NA stores.

Northeast Region – this currently consists of 22 stores covering New York, northern New Jersey & western Connecticut. The regional headquarters is based in Englewood Cliffs, NJ. Our trucks do not deliver to any of these stores so we cross-dock these orders through the Whole Foods distribution warehouse and the Whole Foods truck picks up weekly at our warehouse. For those stores requiring a second delivery during the week, those orders are shipped from our warehouse via common carrier direct to the store.

Who's Who at Associated

We have a dedicated staff that handles all the necessary requirements for managing our Whole Foods business.

Aurise Randall, Director of Marketing – Oversees all the corporate and regional interactions for the WF account. Aurise makes the regional monthly category presentations, holiday presentations & generally fields all issues that involve corporate & regional issues.

Paul Sassenbury, Key Account Manager – works with vendors to supply WF with all the necessary information to maintain product information, promotional schedules, pricing, product roll-outs and allocations. Paul also assists in preparing all the presentations for the category reviews. He is the primary contact for vendors regarding WF. Paul also attends resets in the NA region as a valuable member of the WF reset team.

Jack Kohn, WF NA Outside Sales – Jack works for Associated Buyers, 3 days a week, to maintain store relationships for the North Atlantic region. He helps make sure product tags are correctly placed & priced; promotions get passed along, checks store placements of newly authorized items, addresses inventory issues with the stores and many other things. His time is allocated by Associated primarily concentrating on those brands that do not have broker representation.

The Whole-Food Guide to Strong Bones Annemarie Colbin, 2009 In this work by well known educator and author Annemarie Colbin the reader will discover the latest research and findings on how to create stronger fracture resistant bones with whole foods

Food Safety for Farmers Markets: A Guide to Enhancing Safety of Local Foods Judy A. Harrison, 2017-10-20 This book describes practices used on farms and in farmers markets selling foods directly to consumers in U S and international markets It identifies hazards associated with those practices that could put consumers at increased risk for foodborne illness. It also provides tools for identifying hazards on farms and in markets and guidance for establishing food safe markets. The local food movement inspired by initiatives such as the USDA's Know Your Farmer, Know Your Food, Farm to School, Farm to Pre-school, and The People's Garden is sweeping the country. Nowhere is this interest more evident than at farmers markets. The number of farmers markets has increased almost 400% since the early 1990s with over 8,600 farmers markets listed in the USDA's market directory in 2016. Many of the customers for local markets are senior adults, people who may have health concerns, and mothers with young children shopping for foods they perceive to be healthier and safer than those available in grocery stores. This means that many of the customers may be in population groups that are most at risk for foodborne illness and the serious complications that can result. In surveys, however, farmers selling directly to consumers self-reported practices that could increase risk for foodborne illnesses. These included use of raw manure as fertilizer without appropriate waiting periods between application and harvest as outlined in the National Organic Program, a lack of sanitation training for farm workers handling produce, a lack of proper cleaning and sanitizing of surfaces that come in contact with produce, and use of untested surface water for rinsing produce before taking it to market. Surveys of market managers found that many had limited experience and most had no food safety plans for their markets. Observational studies in markets have corroborated self-reported practices that could increase foodborne illness risks including lack of handwashing, lack of access to well-maintained toilet and handwashing facilities, use of materials that cannot be cleaned and sanitized appropriately, and lack of temperature control for foods that must have time and temperature controlled for safety. These potential food safety risks are not only seen in U.S. farmers markets but also have been identified in international markets. This book is unique in that it provides evidence-based information about food safety hazards and potential risks associated with farmers markets. It presents an overview of farm and market practices and offers guidance for enhancing food safety on farms and in markets for educators, farmers, producers, vendors, and market managers. Dr. Judy A. Harrison is a Professor in the Department of Foods and Nutrition at the University of Georgia (UGA) where she has been named a Walter Bernard Hill Fellow for distinguished achievement in public service and outreach. Serving as a food safety specialist for UGA Cooperative Extension, she has provided 25 years of food safety education for a variety of audiences across the food system.
