

Why I Become a Nurse Practitioner

4 pages | 858 words

As the great American philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." This statement perfectly describes my journey into the nursing field and my decision to further immerse myself in higher education to advance my practice. This literature will portray my trajectory into nursing and explain my goals, interests, and career plans with obtaining my Family Nurse Practitioner degree. In May 2008, I graduated from Monmouth University and shortly after began my career at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith. When the opportunity presented itself for a promotion to the trading floor, I jumped at the chance. My previous role as a Mortgage Sales Assistant was stressful and high pace. After being in finance for almost six years, I realized I was coming home after working 12-hour shifts with a feeling of emptiness inside. I did not feel fulfilled as an individual; this was not my path in life. One finds it hard to feel a sense of wholeness in the corporate world because what you are creating is not tangible. I started thinking of careers where I could actually help society and make my existence on this earth worthwhile. My prior work ethic and experiences have greatly benefited my nursing practice because time management, multi-tasking skills and the ability to react quickly are detrimental in this field of work. I've been a bedside nurse for a little over 3 years and the amount of knowledge that I've acquired working alongside critical patients and experienced practitioners is immense and makes me want to expand my knowledge base even more. The role of an FNP really catches my interest because the position enables you to work in a variety of settings; whether it is a doctor's office, a clinic, schools, or hospitals. FNP's place a strong importance on prevention and wellness as well as provide treatment for mild ailments to serious conditions across the lifespan. Being a PACU nurse, the turnover is pretty quick and I'm able to recover patients post surgery until they are optimized to go to the inpatient units. The idea of becoming an FNP really excites me because I will be able to provide more long term care to patients rather than the quick turnover I currently have in the acute care setting. One of the reasons I love being a nurse is because I get to work directly with patients. The FNP role will allow me to continue to work directly with people. I've obtained qualities in my nursing career that will ultimately enable me to provide my patients with the best care as an advanced practitioner. These traits include enthusiasm, optimism, advocacy and great communication skills. There are many times in my current role that I advocate for my patient because they are too weak or are uncomfortable because they are in a hospital setting. Sometimes, language barriers exists and although translating services are available in the hospital, patients seem to feel more comfortable with me when they realize I speak Spanish as well. Communication is critical in healthcare because it allows for optimal patient outcomes. My goal is to...
