Seduction by Contract Oren Bar-Gill, 2012-08-23 Consumers routinely enter into long term contracts with providers of goods and services from credit cards mortgages cell phones insurance TV and internet services to household appliances theatre and sports events health clubs magazine subscriptions transportation and more Across these consumer markets certain design features of contracts are recurrent and puzzling Why do sellers design contracts to provide short term benefits and impose long term costs Why are low introductory prices so common Why are the contracts themselves so complex with numerous fees and interest rates tariffs and penalties Seduction by Contract explains how consumer contracts emerge from the interaction between market forces and consumer psychology Consumers are short sighted and optimistic so sellers compete to offer short term benefits while imposing long term costs Consumers are imperfectly rational so sellers hide the true costs of products and services in complex contracts Consumers are seduced by contracts that increase perceived benefits without actually providing more benefits and decrease perceived costs without actually reducing the costs that consumers ultimately bear Competition does not help this behavioural market failure It may even exacerbate it Sellers operating in a competitive market have no choice but to align contract design with the psychology of consumers A high road seller who offers what she knows to be the best contract will lose business to the low road seller who offers what the consumer mistakenly believes to be the best contract Put bluntly competition forces sellers to exploit the biases and misperceptions of their customers Seduction by Contract argues that better legal policy can help consumers and enhance market efficiency Disclosure mandates provide a promising avenue for regulatory intervention Simple aggregate disclosures can help consumers make better choices Comprehensive disclosures can facilitate the work of intermediaries enabling them to better advise consumers Effective disclosure would expose the seductive nature of consumer contracts and as a result reduce sellers incentives to write inefficient contracts Developing its explanation through a general framework and detailed case studies of three major consumer markets credit cards mortgages and cell phones Seduction by Contract is an accessible introduction to the law and economics of consumer contracts and a powerful critique of current regulatory policy

It seems that everywhere you turn someone wants to know your credit score It doesn t matter if this is you or someone from your bank Many landlords will even run a potential renter s credit as this will usually give them insight as to whether the person will pay their rent The landlords will also have guidelines to use in order to tell you if you are approved or not approved based on your credit score While some may allow you to have a cosigner if you are not approved they will also want to run your co signer s credit report This is often frustrating to many people especially when you are trying to repair your credit It can make you feel that you are never given a break or that your identity is now your bad credit It doesn t have to be this way In fact the more you learn about the details of what bad credit is and how there are federal laws to help you overcome bad credit the faster you will find yourself in financial freedom Your credit score is vital to your life It is something that helps you to enjoy life as you have added access to financial services and various investments You must understand how your score can directly influence what you can purchase so that you can enjoy your life The problems you have with your credit score can be very dramatic and you might not be fully aware of what affects your credit score or how valuable it is to you Those people who pay off their debts and lines of credit with on time payments will be more likely to have better credit ratings There are many things relating to your credit score that should be explored that go well beyond just your payment history
