

The Kyoto protocol and the IPCC (Intergovernmental panel on climate change)

INTERGOVERNMENTAL PANEL ON CLIMATE CHANGE

- A major, comprehensive, detailed and scientifically impartial analysis of global climate has been undertaken by IPCC.
- The IPCC was created by the World Meteorological Organization and the United Nations Environment Programme in 1988.
- It does no research of its own but it collects information from scientific material to report on technical and socio-economic aspects of climate change.
- Its 4 reports (1990, 1997, 2001 and 2007) have been instrumental in providing an accurate analysis of the global situation.

Who Wrote The Ippc Kyoto Report:

Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) Third Assessment Report United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, 2004 Fiscal Year 2001 Climate Change Budget Authorization Request United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science. Subcommittee on Energy and Environment, 2001 The Climate Solutions Consensus National Council for Science and the Environment, 2012-06-22

In 2007 the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change shared the 2007 Nobel Peace Prize with former Vice President Al Gore for its reporting on the human causes of climate change In 2008 the National Council for Science and the Environment reported that the acceleration of climate change is already faster than the IPCC projected only a year earlier How we deal with the rapid environmental changes and the human forces that are driving these changes will be among the defining issues of our generation Climate Solutions Consensus presents an agenda for America It is the first major consensus statement by the nation s leading scientists and it provides specific recommendations for federal policies for state and local governments for businesses and for colleges and universities that are preparing future generations who will be dealing with a radically changed climate The book draws upon the recommendations developed by more than 1200 scientists educators and decision makers who participated in the National Council for Science and the Environment s 8th National Conference on Science Policy and the Environment After presenting a lucid narrative of the science behind climate change and its solutions Climate Solutions Consensus presents 35 practical results oriented approaches for minimizing climate change and its impacts It clearly spells out options for technological societal and policy actions And it deals head on with controversial topics including nuclear energy ocean fertilization and atmospheric geo engineering One of the book s key conclusions is that climate solutions are about much more than energy sources They involve re examining everything people do with an eye toward minimizing climate impacts This includes our eating habits consumption patterns transportation building and housing forestry land use education and more According to these scientists the time to act is now With clarity and urgency they tell us exactly what needs to be done to start reversing the driving factors behind climate change minimizing their consequences and adapting to what is beyond our power to stop A Critical Assessment of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change Kari De Pryck, Mike Hulme, 2022-12-22 The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC has become a hugely influential institution It is the authoritative voice on the science on climate change and an exemplar of an intergovernmental science policy interface This book introduces the IPCC as an institution covering its origins history processes participants products and influence Discussing its internal workings and operating principles it shows how IPCC assessments are produced and how consensus is reached between scientific and policy experts from different institutions countries and social groups A variety of practices and discourses epistemic diplomatic procedural communicative that make the institution function are critically assessed allowing the reader to learn from its successes and failures This volume is the go to reference for researchers studying or active within the IPCC as well as invaluable for students concerned with global environmental problems and climate governance This title is also available as Open Access via Cambridge Core The Oxford Handbook of International Environmental Law Lavanya Rajamani, Jacqueline Peel, 2021 Taking stock of all the major developments in the field of international environmental law this text explores core assumptions and concepts basic analytical tools and key challenges

National Forest Inventories Erkki Tomppo, Thomas Gschwantner, Mark Lawrence, Ronald E. McRoberts, 2009-12-02 Forest inventories throughout the world have evolved gradually over time The content as well as the concepts and definitions employed are constantly adapted to the users needs Advanced inventory systems have been established in many countries within Europe as well as outside Europe as a result of development work spanning several decades in some cases more than 100 years With continuously increasing international agreements and commitments the need for information has also grown drastically and reporting requests have become more frequent and the content of the reports wider Some of the agreements made at the international level have direct impacts on national economies and international decisions e.g. the Kyoto Protocol Thus it is of utmost importance that the forest information supplied is collected and analysed using sound scientific principles and that the information from different countries is comparable European National Forest Inventory NFI teams gathered in Vienna in 2003 to discuss the new challenges and the measures needed to get data users to take full advantage of existing NFIs As a result the European National Forest Inventory Network ENFIN a network of NFIs was established The ENFIN members decided to apply for funding for meetings and collaborative activities COST European Cooperation in Science and Technology provided the necessary financial means for the realization of the program

Climate Change Great Britain: Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, 2006-03-28 This programme sets out the Government's policies and priorities for action on climate change in the UK and internationally The first section examines the nature and scale of the challenge posed by climate change It describes the existing international framework for action including the G8 and EU meetings and resulting plans of action The Government intends to build on these developments and also try to influence the rapidly growing economies of India China Brazil and others so that they evolve as low carbon economies The major part of the report is concerned with the UK's attempt to deliver the Kyoto Protocol target of reducing emissions of six greenhouse gases by 12.5 per cent below base year levels over the 2008-2012 period and also the domestic goal of reducing carbon dioxide emissions by 20 per cent below 1990 levels by 2010 Projections indicate that CO₂ reduction by 2010 will only be some 10.6 per cent below the 1990 level Sections on the UK emission inventory and projections the strategy to reduce emissions and the energy supply sector are followed by chapters covering particular economic sectors business transport domestic agriculture and forestry the public sector Among policies outlined here are encouragement of microgeneration and renewable sources of energy investigation of carbon capture and storage support for energy efficiency in business local and central government increase uptake of biofuels include aviation in the emissions trading scheme for the EU from 2008 raise energy standards of new and refurbished buildings introduce the Code for Sustainable Homes strengthen consumer demand for energy efficiency The Government also sets out its approach to encourage personal action as citizens consumers motorists and business people Provision of better information to the public including an online service on the environmental impact of everyday products and services will be supplemented by a plan for action on sustainable consumption by the end of 2006

Climate Change at the UN Security Council Ash Murphy, 2025-06-30 This book examines the operation of the United Nations Security Council UNSC to better understand the motivating factors that underpin its activation of Article 39 Arguing that climate change should be considered a threat to international peace and security the theory of securitisation is employed to dissect the UNSC and identify the power dynamics that dictate when and why Article 39 is activated Exploring how contemporary threats to peace and security can unite the agenda of the UNSC and shedding light on the narratives used to reach consensus the author considers how this knowledge might be purposed to support the transition of climate change into the realm of Article 39 How necessary and useful a UNSC resolution would be is given thought and a possible pathway to achieving it is outlined Aimed at academics and institutions that commentate on the UNSC climate change securitisation theory and undergraduate and postgraduate students of law international relations UN law and those undertaking environmental studies this book will also be of interest to practitioners and diplomats in and outside of the UN and anyone seeking to further the climate security nexus
