

A Career Journey of Becoming a Nurse

5 pages | 1057 words

I like to help and nurture people back to health, so why not join a profession which consists of that? Nursing goes along well with what I'm best at, it might be the ideal profession for me. Where I can enjoy helping people and looking after them to make them feel better. If they are ill, I want to help figure out what is causing them to feel that way or what the signs are of the possible health problems. I'm also an extremely social individual and can talk with anybody, which is something required if you wish to end up being a nurse. However what does it take? Will the money spent going to school be repaid or more by the profession I have chosen? Well we're about to find out! Prior to you choose what career to choose for life, you require to take a look at whatever. Where to go, what school has the best programs, would it be better to get a degree, what advantages it has for family matters, just how much it pays, can it support the lifestyle you're trying to find in life, and just how much time you can leave. There are numerous more but how can you believe through all of them in such a brief amount of time? Even two to three years won't be good enough to think of all the concerns. But what I am going to do is respond to the most crucial concerns that you must consider in the period of time leading up to the time you need to pick the profession you will be doing for the rest of your life or for a majority of your life. Among the most important questions you need to think about would be, what do you delight in to do the most in your life? If you think about being a nurse as one the possibilities you might be delighted providing for fifty years or two, then select it. I have actually read several posts online and they all talk about how most nurses want that they never ever entered into that profession in the very first place. Though it does have flexible hours and household friendly time off, you have to continuously be on your feet running around all over the location, keep an eye on many doctors patients and paper work, and work really long hours maybe even graveyard shifts. But some say, just how much you delight in being a registered nurse is your attitude towards all the rush and stress. A lot enjoy their tasks and a lot don't enjoy it also. All of it depends upon your outlook on the task. You must also consider where you want to go. Find out where the best place to go would be, and who has the greatest nursing programs. If you can afford a really good college then go there, but if you are working on a low income and have a family and house to take care of then it may not be the best idea to go somewhere out of your budget....
