Vocational Suggestion 2014 Examination:

Vocationalism in Further and Higher Education Sai Loo, Jill Jameson, 2016-08-05 Vocationalism in Further and Higher Education presents a collection of research based papers on the English model of vocationalism and higher education. It argues that negative societal and political perceptions have hindered the debate about the significance and relevance of vocational education and training provision to learning work and the economy. In this book the writers offer unique solutions to the difficult questions that have emerged from their investigations into vocationalism in England. This edited collection brings together a group of academic experts to report and discuss their findings from many years of evidence based research on vocationalism at three levels: macro national and policy making; meso programmes and organization; and micro individual learning and teaching. Chapters explore the key issues relating to the topic such as policies, curriculum, learning and teaching and work contexts. The book reflects on the diversity of related programmes and discusses the applicability and relevance of the term vocationalism in the light of current developments relating to higher vocational education, including occupation, employability and professionalism. This book is a timely contribution to the debate on the English model of vocational education and will be an essential resource for researchers, practitioners and postgraduate students in the fields of vocational education, technical and vocational education and training, TVET, work based learning, politics and policy of education, teaching and learning, higher education and curriculum and pedagogy.

The administration of examinations for 15-19 year olds in England Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee, 2012-07-03 This report from the Education Committee looks at the administration of examinations for 15-19 year olds in England. The Committee expresses serious concerns about incentives in the exam system and about competition on syllabus content. Incentives in the system should be changed so the downward pressure through the competition of exam boards is mitigated. The Committee considers a number of options to change incentives, including:

- A single board. This offers a simpler system with no risk of competition, but the Committee believes the cost, risk and disruption outweigh the benefits.
- Franchising of subjects to exam boards. This removes syllabus competition but again has downsides.
- Or the current system of multiple boards. The Committee sees no benefit in competition on syllabus content, but the setting and marking of exams and associated administration, if properly regulated, could generate incentives and drive quality up, offering value for money to schools and colleges.

The Committee also recommends the development of national syllabuses accredited by Ofqual. The syllabuses would be developed by exam boards in conjunction with learned bodies and employer organisations and could therefore retain the benefits of competition on quality and the incentive for exam boards to innovate.

Transforming Pedagogies Through Engagement with Learners, Teachers and Communities Dat Bao,Thanh Pham,2021-06-12 This book identifies three types of influential forces that pose challenges to innovations socio cultural dynamics teacher individuality and local circumstances It uses languages cultural traits and intellectual heritages in the Asia Pacific region as an example to show the resistance to Western based pedagogies due to disparities between the innovations and these local heritages It reveals personal and professional values that teachers hold and how these values while seemingly supporting creative ideologies happen to prevent them from incorporating innovations in their practices The book discusses how informal educational activities and services that a society possesses could impede pedagogical innovations There is therefore a need for institutions and educators to develop a positive relationship between these phenomena and teaching innovations
