Vocationalization Of Business Education:

Vocationalisation of Secondary Education Revisited Jon Lauglo, R. Maclean, 2005-05-12 The book is a cutting edge contribution to the debate which has occurred for some time on the pros and cons of secondary education becoming more closely and explicitly related to preparing young people for the world of work The book provides concrete examples of the vocationalisation of secondary education with particular reference to the situation in Africa The book appears in the Springer book series on Technical and Vocational Education and Training Issues Concerns and Prospects and complements the International Handbook of Technical and Vocational Education and Training and other publications in the International Library of TVET all of which are publications of the UNESCO UNEVOC International Centre for TVET in Bonn Germany

Vocationalisation of Education Rajat Sharma, 2004 Education is an important instrument for social mobility and social change In an era of all round development and progress the system of education has to be compatible with the challenges of modern times A country like India with such a large population has to opt for vocationalization of education Salient Features Highlights the factors that can accelerate the pace of the implementation of the scheme of vocationalization of education Details the character and nature of distractors in the implementation of the scheme Suggests measures if taken by the educationists and policy makers may serve as correctives to overcome current difficulties Good Practice in Technical and Vocational Education and Training Asian Development Bank, 2009-11-01 Many developing member countries DMCs of the Asian Development Bank ADB suffer from a shortage of qualified workers Technical and vocational education and training TVET and skills development often provide a slow inflexible inadequate and inefficient response to the needs of labor markets This good practice guide supports ADB s education sector staff and other planners in their dialogue with governments and other stakeholders of education in the DMCs aimed at analyzing the TVET sector and its directions The publication highlights strategic questions and presents investment design issues including the strengths and weaknesses of different forms of training and financing It discusses the lessons learned from ADB s experiences in the sector and their implications for future TVET projects Checklists provide a practical tool for evaluating proposed investments Skills Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Richard K. Johanson, Arvil V. Adams, 2004-01-01 This publication reviews recent developments within technical and vocational education and training TVET in sub Saharan Africa as well as future challenges in skills development in the region Based upon 70 case studies covering 20 countries it provides a good starting point for the development of country policies and programmes of relevance to other African regions as well as countries in other regions facing similar challenges Issues discussed include the labour market context reform of public training programmes regulation of non government training institutions enterprise based training building skills for the informal economy balancing cost effectiveness with growth and equity and financing Vocationalizing Education Sweden. Styrelsen för internationell utveckling, 1988 Vocationalization of secondary education is taken to mean curriculum change in a practical or vocational direction Vocationalization is a trend which transcends the divide between rich and poor countries and between different political systems This volume illustrates the international importance of the theme Part I deals with the views and expectations relating to the process of vocationalization Part II is concerned with the process of policy formulation and the conditions impinging on that process Part III addresses select issues in policy implementation and describes more broadly how vocationalization policies have been implemented throughout the education system of various countries Finally Part IV discusses the results of a number of empirical evaluation studies Vocational Education Tarun Rashtriya, Education and Sociology David

Levinson, Peter Cookson, Alan Sadovnik, 2014-01-21 First Published in 2002 This single volume reference provides readers and researchers with access to details on a wide range of topics and issues in the sociology of education Entries cover both national and international perspectives and studies as well as tackling controversial points in education today including gender inequality globalization minorities meritocracy and more This is a key one of a kind resource for all educational researchers and educators Schools and Society Jeanne H. Ballantine, Joan Z. Spade, 2008 Presents the most recent theories research terms concepts ideas and histories on educational leadership and school administration as taught in preparation programs and practiced in schools and colleges today The Diverted Dream Steven Brint, Jerome Karabel, 1989-09-07 In the twentieth century Americans have increasingly looked to the schools and in particular to the nation's colleges and universities as guardians of the cherished national ideal of equality of opportunity With the best jobs increasingly monopolized by those with higher education the opportunity to attend college has become an integral part of the American dream of upward mobility The two year college which now enrolls more than four million students in over 900 institutions is a central expression of this dream and its invention at the turn of the century constituted one of the great innovations in the history of American education By offering students of limited means the opportunity to start higher education at home and to later transfer to a four year institution the two year school provided a major new pathway to a college diploma and to the nation's growing professional and managerial classes But in the past two decades the community college has undergone a profound change shifting its emphasis from liberal arts transfer courses to terminal vocational programs Drawing on developments nationwide as well as in the specific case of Massachusetts Steven Brint and Jerome Karabel offer a history of community colleges in America explaining why this shift has occurred after years of student resistance and examining its implications for upward mobility As the authors argue in this exhaustively researched and pioneering study the junior college has always faced the contradictory task of extending a college education to the hitherto excluded while diverting the majority of them from the nation's four year colleges and universities Very early on two year college administrators perceived vocational training for semi professional work as their and their students most secure long term niche in the educational hierarchy With two thirds of all community college students enrolled in vocational programs the authors contend that the dream of education as a route to upward mobility as well as the ideal of equal educational opportunity for all are seriously threatened With the growing public debate about the state of American higher education and with more than half of all first time degree credit students now enrolled in community colleges a full scale historically grounded examination of their place in American life is long overdue This landmark study provides such an examination and in so doing casts critical light on what is distinctive not only about American education but American society itself

Vocationalisation of Secondary Education Revisited Jon Lauglo,R. Maclean,2006-03-30 The book is a cutting edge contribution to the debate which has occurred for some time on the pros and cons of secondary education becoming more closely and explicitly related to preparing young people for the world of work The book provides concrete examples of the vocationalisation of secondary education with particular reference to the situation in Africa The target audience for the book includes policy makers practitioners administrators education planners researchers teachers and teacher educators with a concern about the relationship between secondary education and education for the world of work with particular reference to technical and vocational education and training TVET The book appears in the Springer book series on Technical and Vocational Education and Training Issues Concerns and Prospects and compliments the International Handbook of Technical and Vocational Education and Training and other publications in the International Library of TVET all of which are publications of the UNESCO UNEVOC International Centre for TVET in Bonn Germany

The Contradictory College Kevin James Dougherty,1994-01-01 This book systematically analyzes the evidence on four key issues that have divided commentators on the community college The community college s impact on students business and the universities the factors behind its rise since 1900 the causes of its swift vocationalization after 1960 and what direction the community college should take in the future

International Handbook of Education for the Changing World of Work Rupert Maclean,David Wilson,2009-06-29 The aim of this Handbook is to review the developments that have occurred in Technical and vocational education and training TVET and that may help improve the field The Handbook provides information on TVET models that occur in different parts of the world reflects best and innovative practice and wherever possible uses case studies as examples The 220 authors are representative of the various regions of the world and major international organisations involved in TVET This volume presents the work of established researchers as well as the work of promising young researchers Intended as the universally accepted resource for the field the Handbook provides a comprehensive coverage of cutting edge developments in research policy and practice in TVET within a single source It will assist those involved in TVET at any level in making informed decisions and further advance and improve the field and to bridge the gap between vocational and academic education in the 21st century

Resources in Education ,1991-04 Educating Entrepreneurial Citizens Joan DeJaeghere,2017-05-18 Educating Entrepreneurial Citizens examines the multiple and contradictory purposes and effects of entrepreneurship education aimed at addressing youth unemployment and alleviating poverty in Tanzania Governments in sub Saharan Africa face increasing pressure to educate young people through secondary school supposedly equipping them with knowledge and skills for employment and their future At the same time many youths do not complete their education and there are insufficient jobs to employ graduates The development community sees entrepreneurship education as one viable solution to the double edged problem of inadequate education and few jobs But while entrepreneurship education is aligned with a governing rationality of neoliberalism that requires individuals to create their own livelihoods without government social supports the two NGO programs discussed in this book draw on a rights based discourse that seeks to educate those not served by government schools providing them with educational and social supports to be included in society The chapters explore the tensions that occur when international organizations and NGOs draw on both neoliberal and liberal human rights discourses to address the problems of poverty unemployment and poor quality education Furthermore when these neo liberal perspectives meet local ideas of reciprocity and solidarity they create friction and alter the programs and effects they have on youth The book introduces the concept of entrepreneurial citizens those who utilize their innovative skills and behaviors to claim both economic and social rights from which they had been previously excluded The programs taught youth how to develop their own enterprises to earn profits and to save for their own futures but youth used their education skills and labor to provide for basic needs to be included in society and to support their and their families well being By showing the contradictory effects of entrepreneurship education programs the book asks international agencies and governments to consider how they can go beyond technical approaches of creating enterprises and increasing income and head toward approaches that consider the kinds of labor that young people and communities value for their wellbeing This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners of education and international development youth studies African Studies and entrepreneurship social entrepreneurship education
