Newsletter, 1969 Senior Moments S. L. Varnado, 2006-07 In this madcap romp through the life of a typical senior citizen author S L Varnado discusses his problems with telephone menus that fail to connect him with a living person computers that refuse to compute and HMOs that motivate him to seek assisted suicide As Varnado shares his difficulties with a satanic television set that brings in the Beverly Hillbillies speaking French diets that lead to slow death by starvation aerobic exercises that take the wind out of you and ghetto blasters that wake the neighborhood at midnight it becomes apparent that an elderly person's life is beset with danger in this brave new world of the twenty first century Varnado winces at the grim difficulties of a wife who keeps him on a rigorous diet and doctors who leave him alone for hours in tiny cubicles There are however rare moments of triumph such as when he convinces his wife that he is not really the klutz she thinks he is and when he makes a delightful pilgrimage to the local shopping mall Although never one to take things lightly Varnado leaves you with the feeling that even though life can't be beautiful a little cleverness can make it tolerable

Unpalatable Carrie Helms Tippen, 2025-01-15 The cookbook genre is highly conventional with an orientation toward celebration and success From glossy photographs to heartwarming stories and adjective rich ingredient lists the cookbook tradition primes readers for pleasure Yet the overarching narrative of the region is often one of pain loss privation exploitation poverty and suffering of various kinds While some cookbook writers go to great lengths to avoid reminding readers of this painful past others invoke that pain as a marker of southern authenticity Still others use stories of southern suffering as an opportunity to make space for reconciliation reparation or apology for past wrongs In Unpalatable Stories of Pain and Pleasure in Southern Cookbooks author Carrie Helms Tippen attempts to understand the unique rhetorical situation of the southern cookbook as it negotiates a tension between the expectations of the genre and the prevailing metanarratives of the southern experience one focused on pleasure and the other rooted in pain Through an analysis of commercially published southern cookbooks from the 1990s to the present Tippen examines the range of rhetorical purposes and strategies writers have employed some of which undermine the reality of a painful past and cause harm or violence and others which serve as tools for truth and reconciliation
