Paper - 2
(PRACTICAL)
(Three hours)

(Candidates are allowed additional 15 minutes for only reading the paper.
They must NOT start writing during this time.)

ALL ANSWERS MUST BE WRITTEN IN THE ANSWER BOOKLET
PROVIDED SEPARATELY

If squared paper is used, it must be attached to the answer booklet.

Marks are given for a clear record of observations actually made, for their suitability and accuracy, and for the use made of them.

A brief statement of the method may be given if necessary. Theory of the experiment is not required unless specifically asked for.

Candidates are advised to record their observations as soon as they have been made.

All working, including rough work, should be done on the same sheet as, and adjacent to, the rest of the answer.

Mathematical tables and squared paper are provided. The intended marks for questions or parts of questions are given in brackets [].

Answer all questions

You should not spend more than one and a half hours on Question 1.

Question 1

This experiment determines the focal length of the given convex lens by no parallax method.

You are provided with :

- | | |
|------------------------|------------------------|
| (i) A convex lens | (ii) A lens holder |
| (iii) Two optical pins | (iv) An optical bench. |

Note: If an optical bench is not available, the experiment may be performed on a table top, using a metre scale.

Transport Fuels from Australia's Gas Resources Robert Clark,Mark J Thomson,2014-12-01 The transport sector in Australia depends heavily on imported oil based fuels With this comes the ever present risk of oil supply shortages But Australia is gas rich and oil poor so it makes practical sense to assess how our own gas resources can be used to produce these fuels Natural gas can be used directly as a fuel blended with diesel in modified diesel engines and converted into a conventional liquid fuel all at a modest cost This book written by Australia s leading experts in the field demonstrates how using natural gas as a transport fuel could increase fuel self sufficiency to 50

70 percent by 2030 And with three quarters of all freight being moved by road it s clear that these developments will have major benefits for Australian transport efficiency

Limits of the Numerical Christopher Newfield,Anna Alexandrova,Stephen John,2022-06-24 This collection examines the uses of quantification in climate science higher education and health Numbers may seem fragile they are after all frequent objects of obfuscation or outright denial but they have also never been more influential in our society figuring into everything from college rankings to vaccine efficacy rates This timely collection by a diverse group of humanists and social scientists challenges undue reverence or skepticism toward quantification and shows how it can be a force for good despite its many abuses Limits of the Numerical focuses on quantification in several contexts the role of numerical estimates and targets in explaining and planning for climate change the quantification of outcomes in teaching and research and numbers representing health the effectiveness of medical interventions and well being more broadly The authors complicate our understanding of these numbers uncovering for example epistemic problems with some core numbers in climate science But their theme is less the problems revealed by case studies than the methodological issues common to them all This volume shows the many ways that qualitative and quantitative approaches can productively interact how the limits of the numerical can be overcome through equitable partnerships with historical institutional and philosophical analysis
