The Report: Papua New Guinea 2015

Oxford Business Group,2016-09-17 In Papua New Guinea hopes are high that real change is on its way the country s political administrative financial and technical leaders now have to find a way to ensure the most productive distribution and use of financial resources Many international actors are watching closely to see how this young country negotiates its path Papua New Guinea became a major exporter of gas in 2014 when the 19bn PNG liquefied natural gas LNG project was completed ahead of schedule and within budget significantly increasing the size and strength of the economy The year ahead is likely to see PNG benefit from the further development of its hydrocarbons sector fuelling the growth of its economy as a whole The LNG influx also poses challenges however in terms of ensuring inclusive growth and productive use of the new revenues PNG takes pride in being a final frontier of natural and cultural development but the task ahead is to protect the country s heritage while becoming part of the global economy

The State of the Art in Student Engagement

Carl Senior,2015-07-10 There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education However here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome On the other hand collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem From this perspective learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome That is collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently However the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments e g lecture theaters involve students on the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved However students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector PHealth 2015 B. Women in Science: Chemistry Jennifer L. Schaefer, Elisabeth Lojou, Svetlana Ivanova, Silvia Giordani, Qin Li, 2022-02-08

Linking Optical and Chemical Properties of Dissolved Organic Matter in Natural Waters Christopher L. Osburn, Thomas S. Bianchi, 2017-01-17 A substantial increase in the number of studies using the optical properties absorbance and fluorescence of dissolved organic matter DOM as a proxy for its chemical properties in estuaries and the coastal and open ocean has occurred during the last decade We are making progress on finding the actual chemical compounds or phenomena responsible for DOM s optical properties Ultrahigh resolution mass spectrometry in particular has made important progress in making the key connections between optics and chemistry But serious questions remain and the last major special issue on DOM optics and chemistry occurred nearly 10 years ago Controversies remain from the non specific optical properties of DOM that are not linked to discrete sources and sometimes provide conflicting information The use of optics which is relatively easier to employ in synoptic and high resolution sampling to determine chemistry is a critical connection to make and can lead to major advances in our understanding of organic matter cycling in all aquatic ecosystems The contentions and controversies raised by our poor understanding of the linkages between optics and chemistry of DOM are bottlenecks that need to be addressed and overcome
