A People's Guide to An Interfaith Christian Theology in a Time of Transformation Harvey H. Honig, 2022-05-17 Harvey H Honig began his life's work as a Lutheran minister but soon recognized his need for a more spacious and inclusive approach through which to heal and understand his inner self This led him to spend many years exploring and experiencing other paths of religion and spirituality In recent years though he found that the message mission and being of Jesus still played a powerful and transformative role in his life Since common understandings of the life of Jesus are embedded within a biblical and historical framework Honig wanted to explore the meaning of Christianity within the framework of our current world An Interfaith Christian Theology is for fellow seekers who are drawn to the being and message of Jesus but can no longer relate to the dissonance between reality and belief that so many churches require Honig's approach differs from traditional Christian theology in two ways first it does not stem from the framework of a specific denomination and second it presents itself as a way of thinking about Christianity rather than the only way After several years as a minister Honig began Jungian analytic training and earned a PhD in psychology at Loyola University Chicago Jung gave Honig the tools he needed to continue his personal search for a life affirming view of Christianity and to assist others in their search for inner truth and healing

Mental Health and Care Homes Tom Denning, Alisoun Milne, 2011-05-26 The care home sector is large with over 400 000 residents in the UK and a similar number employed within the homes It is therefore an area of considerable economic importance Care home residents are often very old and many have multiple physical and mental health needs meaning that their care poses particular challenges They are also a distinctly and profoundly marginalised group who are often invisible in the wider debates on quality of care including those about care homes Mental Health and Care Homes is a coherent and evidence based text exploring these issues Bringing together both clinical and research perspectives it will help those working in the care home sector to deliver high quality care and support to both residents and staff This important yet neglected area is thoroughly reviewed by a range of experts including residents family carers staff researchers and clinicians The book has four sections the inside view which includes several first hand accounts of care home life the outside view which discusses the regulatory funding and legislative context in which care homes operate mental health and care a detailed review of the major mental and other health issues that arise in care homes as well as interventions and services to offer support and a section exploring the promotion of health and wellbeing including examples of good practice It concludes by synthesising key themes and setting an agenda for further enquiry The book is written in a style that encourages engagement with the inclusion of contemporary case studies and examples making it topical and readable It will be valuable for a broad professional and vocational audience across both health and social care as well as students and researchers
