A Source Book for Mediaeval History : Selected Documents illustrating the History of Europe in the Middle Age Oliver J. Thatcher, Edgar Holmes McNeal, 1905

A Source Book for Mediaeval History Selected Documents illustrating the History of Europe in the Middle Age It will be observed that we have made use chiefly of documents quoting from chronicles only when it seemed absolutely necessary An exception to this general principle is found in section I where a larger use of chronicles was rendered necessary by the lack of documentary sources for much of the period covered but it is perhaps unnecessary to apologize for presenting selections from the important histories of Tacitus Gregory Einhard and Widukind In the matter of form translation omissions arrangements notes etc we were guided by considerations of the purpose of the book The style of most of the documents in the original is involved obscure bombastic and repetitious A faithful rendition into English would often be quite unintelligible We have endeavored to make a clear and readable translation but always to give the correct meaning If we have failed in the latter it is not for want of constant effort We have not hesitated to omit phrases and clauses often of a parenthetical nature the presence of which in the translation would only render the passage obscure and obstruct the thought As a rule we have given the full text of the body of the document but we have generally omitted the first and last paragraphs the former containing usually titles and pious generalities and the latter being composed of lists of witnesses etc We have given a sufficient number of the documents in full to illustrate these features of medi val diplomatics All but the most trivial omissions in the text which are matters rather of form of translation are indicated thus Insertions in the text to explain the meaning of phrases are inclosed in brackets Quotations from the Bible are regularly given in the words of the Authorized Version but where the Latin taken from the Vulgate differs in any essential manner we have sometimes translated the passage literally Within each section the documents are arranged in chronological order except in a few cases where the topical arrangement seemed necessary We believe that the explanatory notes in the form of introductions and foot notes will be found of service they are by no means exhaustive but are intended to explain the setting and importance of the document and the difficult or obscure passages it may contain The reference to the work or the collection in which the original is found is given after the title of practically every document the meaning of the references will be plain from the accompanying bibliography The original of nearly all the documents is in Latin some few are in Greek Old French or German and in such cases the language of the original is indicated It is impossible of course to give explicit directions as to the use of the book other than the very obvious methods of requiring the student to read and analyze the documents assigned in connection with the lesson in the text book and of making clear to him the relation of the document to the event It may be possible also for the teacher to give the student some notion of the meaning of historical method e g the necessity of making allowance for the ignorance or the bias of the author in chronicles or the way in which a knowledge of institutions is deduced from incidental references in documents Suggestions of both sorts will be found in the introduction and notes The teacher should insist on the use of such helps as are found in the book notes cross references glossary etc Groups of documents can be used to advantage in topical work assigned topics worked up from authorities can be illustrated by documents selected from the book e g imperial elections papal elections the Normans in Sicily history of the Austrian dominions Germans and Slavs on the eastern frontier relations of the emperors and the popes before the investiture strife etc

The only excuse I have to offer for the publication of these desultory and chatty letters in this more permanent form is that a number of my friends have requested it Many of the letters have already appeared in the columns of The Children's Friend for which they were originally written at the instance of the Presbyterian Committee of Publication but I have included in the volume several letters which were written for other periodicals and a considerable number which have not been published anywhere till now Some of them were written hastily and as it were on the wing others with more deliberation and care Some were intended for young readers others for older people This will account for the differences of style and subject matter which will strike every one and which will be particularly noticeable when the letters are read consecutively In some cases I have drawn the materials in part from other sources besides my own observations the main object at times being not originality but accuracy and fullness of information In such cases I have endeavored to make full acknowledgment of my indebtedness to other writers As most of the letters were written for a denominational paper they naturally contain a good many references to notable events in the history of the Presbyterian Church and to some of the differences between that church and others in matters of doctrine polity and forms of worship But I trust that in no case have I felt or expressed a spirit of uncharitable sectarianism If any reader should receive the impression that I have done so in one or two instances I request him to suspend judgment till he has read all the references to such matters contained in the letters It will then be seen that if I have had occasion to make some strictures upon the Anglican and Roman Catholic Churches I have not hesitated to make them upon my own church also when I have observed in her worship or work things which seemed to argue that she was untrue in any measure to her principles and that if I have criticised the Anglo Catholic and Roman Catholic systems as erroneous I have recognized thankfully the great evangelical truths embedded in the heart of Anglican and even Romish theology though so sadly overlaid and have rejoiced to pay my tribute of praise to the saintly characters that have been developed within those bodies in spite of their errors
