

THE PIGMAN

CHAPTER 1

SUMMARY

- John relates how he hated school, and used pull pranks at school such as putting firecrackers in the bathroom. He says that now that he is a sophomore, he has "given up that kid stuff," except for writing on desks.
- Lorraine, John relates, has had a "miserable look on her face ever since the Piggman died," but she has started to become livelier and more opinionated since they started working on the memorial.
- He and Lorraine had a disagreement about his use of curse words in the memorial, but reached a compromise when he agreed to represent curses like this: "G@#$%", or "J@#$%", for "the naughtiest curse you can think of."
- He says he has to go because Lorraine is "wanting to get at the typewriter."

Schultz, 2013-11-11 The second edition of Physiology of Membrane Disorders represents an extensive revision and a considerable expansion of the first edition Yet the purpose of the second edition is identical to that of its predecessor namely to provide a rational analysis of membrane transport processes in individual membranes cells tissues and organs which in turn serves as a frame of reference for rationalizing disorders in which derangements of membrane transport processes play a cardinal role in the clinical expression of disease As in the first edition this book is divided into a number of individual but closely related sections Part V represents a new section where the problem of transport across epithelia is treated in some detail Finally Part VI which analyzes clinical derangements has been enlarged appreciably THE EDITORS xi Preface to the First Edition The purpose of this book is to provide the reader with a rational frame of reference for assessing the pathophysiology of those disorders in which derangements of membrane transport processes are a major factor responsible for the clinical manifestations of disease In the present context we use the term membrane transport to refer to those molecular processes whose cardinal function broadly speaking is processes in a catholic sense the vectorial transfer of molecules either individually or as ensembles across biological interfaces the latter including those interfaces which separate different intracellular compartments the cellular and extracellular compartments and secreted fluids such as glomerular filtrate and extracellular fluids The Modern Elegiac Temper John B. Vickery, 2006-05-01 Lamentation of death is the traditional elegiac focus but in the twentieth century the elegy has become characterized as well by the mourning of other kinds of loss those personal familial romantic cultural and philosophical privations and dispossessions that have so greatly shaped the modern sensibility According to John B Vickery a profound elegiac temper is itself the major trait of twentieth century culture registered in attitudes ranging from regret sorrow confusion anger anxiety doubt and alienation to outright despair He transforms our understanding of the elegy and its relation to modernism in The Modern Elegiac Temper Vickery offers in depth readings of a broad sampling of British and American poems written from World War I to the present He considers works of overlooked poets such as Vernon Watkins George Barker and Edith Sitwell while also attending to canonical writers such as T S Eliot Ezra Pound W H Auden and Wallace Stevens Taking a text oriented rather than author or theory oriented approach he discusses in turn the personal love cultural and philosophical elegy and shows how war the Great Depression the Holocaust and other major historical events influenced poets elegiac expressions By suggesting ways in which the individual centered concerns of the traditional elegy metamorphose under the depersonalizing lens of high modernism Vickery reveals the modern elegy to be a finely calibrated instrument for reading and expressing absorbing and reflecting the modern temperament
