Women and the Media Maggie Andrews, Sallie McNamara, 2014-04-24 The media have played a significant role in the contested and changing social position of women in Britain since the 1900s They have facilitated feminism by both providing discourses and images from which women can construct their identities and offering spaces where hegemonic ideas of femininity can be reworked This volume is intended to provide an overview of work on Broadcasting Film and Print Media from 1900 while appealing to scholars of History and Media Film and Cultural Studies This edited collection features tightly focused and historically contextualised case studies which showcase current research on women and media in Britain since the 1900s The case studies explore media directed at a particularly female audience such as Woman's Hour and magazines such as Vogue Woman and Marie Claire Women who work in the media issues of production and regulation are discussed alongside the representation of women across a broad range of media from early 20th century motorcycling magazines Page 3 and regional television news Philanthropy and the Construction of Victorian Women's Citizenship Andrea Geddes Poole, 2014-02-05 British social reformers Emma Cons 1838 1911 and Lucy Cavendish 1841 1924 broke new ground in their efforts to better the lot of the working poor in London they hoped to transform these people's lives through great art, music, high culture, and elite knowledge. Although they did not recognize it as such, their work was in many ways an affirmation and display of citizenship. This book uses Cons's and Cavendish's partnership and work as an illuminating point of departure for exploring the larger topic of women's philanthropic campaigns in late Victorian and Edwardian society. Andrea Geddes Poole demonstrates that beginning in the late 1860s a shift was occurring from an emphasis on charity as a private, personal act of women's virtuous duty to public philanthropy as evidence of citizenly civic participation. She shows that through philanthropic works women were able to construct a separate public sphere through which they could speak directly to each other about how to affect matters of significant public policy decades before women were finally granted the right to vote. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, 1859
