Observing Human Traits Lab

Background: Physical traits are observable characteristics that are determined by genes. Genes are specific segments of DNA located on chromosomes that code for a particular trait. Most genes have two or more variations called alleles. Some alleles are dominant over others and dominant alleles will be expressed (an organism's phenotype or physical appearance) over recessive alleles. Recessive alleles may be present in an organism but expression is masked in the presence of a dominant allele for the same gene. Recessive traits are only expressed when there are two recessive alleles present in the genotype (DNA code).

Keep in mind that it's not always quite this simple. There are other factors that influence expression, and most traits have several genes that influence them. This is an introduction to dominant and recessive traits. Let's get started!

Directions: Circle the phenotype you have for each of the following traits.

Personal Traits
Trait	Phenotype	Phenotype

We Feel Fine Sep Kamvar,Jonathan Harris,2009-12 Armed with custom software that scours the English speaking world s new Internet blog posts every minute hunting down the phrases I feel and I am feeling the authors have collected over 12 million feelings since 2005 amassing an ever growing database of human emotion that adds more than 10 000 new feelings a day Equal parts pop culture and psychology computer science and conceptual art sociology and storytelling this is no ordinary book with thousands of authors from all over the world sharing their uncensored emotions it is a radical experiment in mass authorship merging the online and offline worlds to create an indispensable handbook for anyone interested in what it s like to be human

Microbiological Safety in U.S. and Foreign Laboratories G. Briggs Phillips,1961 A study of microbiological safety in 102 laboratories in 18 countries shows that methods used to control laboratory accidents and illnesses vary widely and that only a few laboratories are reasonably successful Considering the various available approaches for improving safety in the handling of infectious microorganisms there is need for critical experimental evaluation to determine under what conditions improvements are or are not desirable and the effectiveness of those changes made Of special interest to the Department of the Army would be the ability of laboratories throughout the free world to operate safely with infectious microorganisms under non peacetime conditions Through continued analysis of the world wide status of microbiological safety and through improved communications with foreign laboratories the Biological Laboratories could gather information applicable in its safety program and make a significant contribution to the ability of other laboratories to safely carry out biological defense programs Author
