Library and Information Services Division, 1977      Use of Services for Family Planning and Infertility, United States, 1982 Gerry E. Hendershot, Marjorie C. Horn, William D. Mosher, 1988 The 1982 statistics on the use of family planning and infertility services presented in this report are preliminary results from Cycle III of the National Survey of Family Growth NSFG conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics Data were collected through personal interviews with a multistage area probability sample of 7969 women aged 15 44 A detailed series of questions was asked to obtain relatively complete estimates of the extent and type of family planning services received Statistics on family planning services are limited to women who were able to conceive 3 years before the interview date Overall 79% of currently married nonsterile women reported using some type of family planning service during the previous 3

years There were no statistically significant differences between white 79% black 75% or Hispanic 77% wives or between the 2 income groups The 1982 survey questions were more comprehensive than those of earlier cycles of the survey The annual rate of visits for family planning services in 1982 was 1077 visits 1000 women Teenagers had the highest annual visit rate 1581 1000 of any age group for all sources of family planning services combined Visit rates declined sharply with age from 1447 at ages 15 24 to 479 at ages 35 44 Similar declines with age also were found in the visit rates for white and black women separately Nevertheless the annual visit rate for black women 1334 1000 was significantly higher than that for white women 1033 The highest overall visit rate was for black women 15 19 years of age 1867 1000 Nearly 2 3 of all family planning visits were to private medical sources Teenagers of all races had higher family planning service visit rates to clinics than to private medical sources as did black women age 15 24 White women age 20 and older had higher visit rates to private medical services than to clinics Never married women had higher visit rates to clinics than currently or formerly married women Data were also collected in 1982 on use of medical services for infertility by women who had difficulty in conceiving or carrying a pregnancy to term About 1 million ever married women had 1 or more infertility visits in the 12 months before the interview During the 3 years before interview about 1 9 million women had infertility visits For all ever married women as well as for white and black women separately infertility services were more likely to be secured from private medical sources than from clinics The survey design reliability of the estimates and the terms used are explained in the technical notes

Protein Phosphorylation in Health and Disease Allegra Via,Andreas Zanzoni,2016-08-11 Protein phosphorylation is one of the most abundant reversible post translational modifications in eukaryotes It is involved in virtually all cellular processes by regulating protein function localization and stability and by mediating protein protein interactions Furthermore aberrant protein phosphorylation is implicated in the onset and progression of human diseases such as cancer and neurodegenerative disorders In the last years tens of thousands of in vivo phosphorylation events have been identified by large scale quantitative phospho proteomics experiment suggesting that a large fraction of the proteome might be regulated by phosphorylation This data explosion is increasingly enabling the development of computational approaches often combined with experimental validation aiming at prioritizing phosphosites and assessing their functional relevance Some computational approaches also address the inference of specificity determinants of protein kinases phosphatases and the identification of phosphoresidue recognition domains In this context several challenging issues are still open regarding phosphorylation including a better understanding of the interplay between phosphorylation and allosteric regulation agents and mechanisms disrupting or promoting abnormal phosphorylation in diseases the identification and modulation of novel phosphorylation inhibitors and so forth Furthermore the determinants of kinase and phosphatase recognition and binding specificity are still unknown in several cases as well as the impact of disease mutations on phosphorylation mediated signaling The articles included in this Research Topic illustrate the very diverse aspects of phosphorylation ranging from structural changes induced by phosphorylation to the peculiarities of phosphosite evolution Some also provide a glimpse into the huge complexity of phosphorylation networks and pathways in health and disease and underscore that a deeper knowledge of such processes is essential to identify disease biomarkers on one hand and design more effective therapeutic strategies on the other Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1987 The Energy Index ,1987
