Gallimimus was a Theropod dinosaur that lived in what is now Mongolia about 70 million years ago, during the Late Cretaceous. The genus is part of the coelurich dinosaur group of feather-bearing, fast runners. Its head was small and light with large eyes and a bulbous structure at the base of the skull. The snout was longer, broader and more rounded than in similar species. Its funny look was toothless with a delicate

Several of its fossils were discovered in the Gobi Desert in the 1980s. Gallimimus means "chicken mimic", from the shape of its neck vertebrae. space of the modern Chinese city By viewing these interrelationships as collisions of global and local narratives a more nuanced understanding of the shopping mall typology is explored Much architectural criticism has failed to address the levels of meaning implicit within the shopping mall yet it is a building type whose public popularity has guaranteed its endurance Consequently if architecture is to remain a relevant social art a more holistic understanding of this phenomenon will be indispensable to the process of adapting to globalizing forces This examination of Chinese shopping malls offers a timely and relevant case study of what is happening in all our cities today Managing a Chinese Partner L. Chong,2013-11-29 By drawing on the experiences of Danone Nestl Coca Cola and SABMiller this book provides an insight into why and how the managing a Chinese Partner can deliver value for a joint venture in China a goal shared by many but achieved by few
