Obsession Lennard J. Davis, 2009-05-15 We live in an age of obsession Not only are we hopelessly devoted to our work strangely addicted to our favorite television shows and desperately impassioned about our cars we admire obsession in others we demand that lovers be infatuated with one another in films we respond to the passion of single minded musicians we cheer on driven athletes To be obsessive is to be American to be obsessive is to be modern But obsession is not only a phenomenon of modern existence it is a medical category both a pathology and a goal Behind this paradox lies a fascinating history which Lennard J Davis tells in Obsession Beginning with the roots of the disease in demonic possession and its secular successors Davis traces the evolution of obsessive behavior from a social and religious fact of life into a medical and psychiatric problem From obsessive aspects of professional specialization to obsessive compulsive disorder and nymphomania no variety of obsession eludes Davis's graceful analysis

The English Cult of Literature William R. McKelvy, 2007 What constitutes reading This is the question William McKelvy asks in The English Cult of Literature Is it a theory of interpretation or a physical activity a process determined by hermeneutic destiny or by paper ink hands and eyes McKelvy seeks to transform the nineteenth century field of Religion and Literature into Reading and Religion emphasizing both the material and the institutional contexts for each In doing so he hopes to recover the ways in which modern literary authority developed in dialogue with a politically reconfigured religious authority The received wisdom has been that England s literary tradition was modernity s most promising religion because the established forms of Christianity wounded in the Enlightenment inevitably gave up their hold on the imagination and on the political sphere Through a series of case studies and analysis of a diverse range of writing this work gives life to a very different story one that shows literature assuming a religious vocation in concert with an increasingly unencumbered freedom of religious confession and the making of a reading nation In the process the author shifts attention away from the idea of the literary critic in favor of considering the historic role of religious professionals in shaping and contesting the authority of print Indebted to recent findings of book history and newer historiographies at odds with conventional secularization theory this work makes an interdisciplinary contribution to revising the existing models for understanding change in Britain during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Ulrike Ottinger Laurence A. Rickels, 2008 Since 1974 German filmmaker Ulrike Ottinger has created a substantial body of films that explore a world of difference defined by the tension and transfer between settled and nomadic ways of life In many of her films including Exile Shanghai an experimental documentary about the Jews of Shanghai and Joan of Arc of Mongolia in which passengers on the Trans Siberian Express are abducted by Mongolian bandits she also probes the encounter with the other whether exotic or simply unpredictable In Ulrike Ottinger Laurence A Rickels offers a series of sensitive and original analyses of Ottinger s films as well as her more recent photographic artworks situated within a dazzling thought experiment centered on the history of art cinema through the turn of the twenty first century In addition to commemorating the death of a once vital art form this book also affirms Ottinger s defiantly optimistic turn toward the documentary film as a means of mediating present clashes between tradition and modernity between the local and the global Widely regarded as a singular and provocative talent Ottinger s conspicuous absence from critical discourse is for Rickels symptomatic of the art cinema s demise Incorporating interviews he conducted with Ottinger and illustrated with stunning examples from her photographic oeuvre this book takes up the challenges posed by Ottinger s filmography to interrogate ultimately the very practice and possibility of art cinema today Laurence A Rickels is professor of German and comparative literature at the University of California Santa Barbara and the author of several books including The Case of California The Vampire Lectures and the three volume Nazi Psychoanalysis all published by Minnesota He is a recognized art writer whose reflections on contemporary visual art appear regularly in numerous exhibition catalogues as well as in Artforum artUS and Flash Art Veil Obsessed Umme Al-wazedi, Afrin Zeenat, 2024-04-15 Discussions surrounding the veil often run along essentialist and ahistorical lines associating Islam with oppression shame and honor Contributing to these stereotypes the media in both the East and the West obsessively condemn or valorize practices of veiling In Veil Obsessed Umme Al wazedi and Afrin Zeenat present a range of essays to complicate and challenge the dialogue around the veil exploring its symbolic religious and cultural significance Scholars from a variety of fields analyze and critique the use of the veil in literature film television and the fine arts Considering the multiple perceptions of the veil this volume shows that the meaning of hijab can be natural or constructed real or metaphorical and religious or political when it is presented through the media in the teachings of Islam and in upholding it as a national symbol of a nation state There are inherent tensions among the ideas concerning the power of hijab Does wearing it give agency to women or does it represent oppression thereby creating and perpetuating stereotypes How an individual sees their relationship with the self family and community and the nation state dictates their choice of whether to wear the veil In exploring the wide range of portrayals the editors pose critical questions about perceptions of the veil and the dangers of ignoring its multiplicity The Revised Standard Edition of the Complete Psychological Works of Sigmund Freud Mark Solms, 2024-06-04 The long awaited Revised Standard Edition of the Complete Psychological Works of Sigmund Freud RSE is founded on the canonical

Medieval England Nicola McDonald,2004-10 Pulp fictions of medieval England comprises ten essays on individual popular romances with a focus on romances that while enormously popular in the Middle Ages have been neglected by modern scholarship Each essay provides valuable introductory material and there is a sustained argument across the contributions that the romances invite innovative exacting and theoretically charged analysis However the essays do not support a single homogenous reading of popular romance the authors work with assumptions and come to conclusions about issues as fundamental as the genre s aesthetic codes its political and cultural ideologies and its historical consciousness that are different and sometimes opposed Nicola McDonald s collection and the romances it investigates are crucial to our understanding of the aesthetics of medieval narrative and to the ideologies of gender and sexuality race religion political formations social class ethics morality and national identity with which those narratives engage The Oxford Handbook of the Age of Shakespeare Robert Malcolm Smuts,2016 Rather than seeking to survey the historical background to Shakespeare the essays in the collection display a variety of perspectives insights and methodologies found in current historical work that may also inform literary studies In addition to Elizabethan and early seventeenth century politics they examine such topics as the characteristics of the early modern political imagination the growth of public controversy over religion and other issues during the period and ways in which this can be related to drama attitudes about honour and shame and their relation to concepts of gender histories of crime and murder and ways in which changing attitudes were expressed through architecture printed images and the layout of Tudor gardens

Travel and Translation in the Early Modern Period, 2006-01-01 The relationship between travel and translation might seem obvious at first but to study it in earnest is to discover that it is at once intriguing and elusive Of course travelers translate in order to make sense of their new surroundings sometimes they must translate in order to put food on the table The relationship between these two human compulsions however goes much deeper than this What gets translated it seems is not merely the written or the spoken word but the very identity of the traveler These seventeen essays which treat not only such well known figures as Martin Luther Erasmus Shakespeare and Milton but also such lesser known figures as Konrad Gr nemberg Leo Africanus and Garcilaso de la Vega constitute the first survey of how this relationship manifests itself in the early modern period As such it should be of interest both to scholars who are studying theories of translation and to those who are studying hodoeporics or travel and the literature of travel
