Trends in Language Assessment Research and Practice Vahid Aryadoust, Janna Fox, 2016-02-29 Despite prodigious developments in the field of language assessment in the Middle East and the Pacific Rim research and practice in these areas have been underrepresented in mainstream literature This volume takes a fresh look at language assessment in these regions and provides a unique overview of contemporary language assessment research In compiling this book the editors have tapped into the knowledge of language and educational assessment experts whose diversity of perspectives and experience has enriched the focus and scope of language and educational assessment in general and the present volume in particular The six trends addressed in the 26 chapters that comprise this title consider such contemporary topics as data mining in class assessment and washback The contributors explore new approaches and techniques in language assessment including advances resulting from multidisciplinary collaboration with researchers in computer science genetics and neuroscience The current trends and promising new directions identified in this volume and the research reported here suggest that researchers across the Middle East and the Pacific Rim are playing and will continue to play an important role in advancing the quality utility and fairness of language testing and assessment practices

Invisible Forces Pei Pei Liu, 2023-12-01 Explores the critical role that classroom educators play in supporting student motivation throughout the transition from high school to college Educators consistently identify student motivation as a top concern particularly during the transition to college but often feel helpless to influence it Some assume that students are simply motivated or not Others are daunted by trying to shape an unobservable psychological phenomenon Invisible Forces provides a framework for thinking of student motivation as a set of internal mindsets that are promoted or thwarted through a complex ecology of personal classroom institutional and systemic factors Using the method of portraiture Pei Pei Liu brings this ecology to life The book presents a series of four rich case studies of educators efforts to support student motivation and the challenges they encounter in secondary and postsecondary writing classrooms Attuned to the unique status of writing based courses as a near universal academic experience throughout the transition from high school to college these portraits shed light on different strategies make a case for institutional support of instructors and pave the way for greater alignment between secondary and postsecondary settings
