Vectorworks for

Entertainment Design Kevin Lee Allen, 2014-09-15 The first book in the industry tailored specifically for the entertainment professional. Vectorworks for Entertainment Design covers the ins and outs of Vectorworks software for lighting scenic and sound design. With a detailed look at the design process from idea to development to the documentation necessary for execution, Vectorworks for Entertainment Design will encourage you to create your own process and workflow through exercises that build on one another. The text stresses the process of developing an idea, visualizing it, and evolving it for presentation, documentation, or drafting. The author focuses on both the technical how-to and the art of design, giving you the tools you need to learn and then use the application professionally. Fully illustrated with step-by-step instructions, it contains inspirational work from Broadway, major regional companies, and non-theatrical entertainment design.

Building Futures Richard Garber, 2023-08-29 BUILDING FUTURES An approach to Information Modeling engaging concepts of equality, sustainability, and labor as they relate to environment and architectural practice. Building Futures: Technology, Ecology, and Architectural Practice explores how architects and the buildings and environments we create can engage future realities, both abstract and readily understood. These range from climate change and public health to advanced ideas about manufacture and construction. The text demonstrates multiple and hybrid paths in which building information modeling (BIM) and outgrowth technological processes, including environmental simulation and human-robot interaction, can be utilized in today's contemporary context, expanding the architect's agency by focusing on a more conceptual and ecological basis for our work. Moving beyond a basic understanding of the role of computation in architecture and design, the work shows how to think critically and speculatively about technology's deeper and more lasting impacts on both architecture and society. Topics covered in Building Futures include Technology, information modeling, and the relationship between computational and real objects; new approaches to coding in architectural design and direct-to-manufacture workflows; Environment, understanding part-to-whole relationships at a variety of scales, and the interconnectedness of things; post-subjective architectural approaches to ecology; and new ideas about sustainability. Practice revisiting architecture by remote control in the time of new global challenges and novel ideas about creativity, authorship, and professionalism. Design professionals and practice leaders grappling with the relationship of technology to design pedagogy will use Building Futures to better theorize and execute their architectural vision. Students in upper-level courses studying technique and theory will also find value in the work, which prepares incoming professionals for the major changes that the Architecture, Engineering, and Construction (AEC) industry may undergo in the coming years and decades. The book prompts us to consider simulating events where architecture and architects could mitigate, redirect, or develop contingencies in relation to the environment, flows of material and capital, and other things that operate from the immediate through to almost geological timescales. From the Foreword by Robert Stuart Smith, Director of the Autonomous Manufacturing Lab, University of Pennsylvania.
