 most popular magazine for women in nineteenth century America had a national circulation of 150 000 during the 1860s The recipes spelled receipts it published were often submitted by women from both the North and the South and they reveal the wide variety of regional cooking that characterized American culture There is a remarkable diversity in the recipes thanks to the largely rural readership of Godey's Lady's Book and to the immigrant influence on the country in the 1860s Fish and game were readily available in rural America and the number of seafood recipes testifies to the abundance of the coastal waters and rivers The country cook was a frugal cook particularly during wartime so there are a great many recipes for leftovers and seasonal produce In addition to a wide sampling of recipes that can be used today Civil War Recipes includes information on Union and Confederate army rations cooking on both homefronts and substitutions used during the war by southern cooks The American Journal of Horticulture and Florist's Companion ,1870 Raspberry Delights Cookbook

 Raspberry Delights Cookbook will be a valued addition to any chef's bookshelf Every Home a Distillery Sarah H.
 Meacham, 2009-10-12 In this original examination of alcohol production in early America Sarah Hand Meacham uncovers the crucial role women played in cidery and distilling in the colonial Chesapeake Her fascinating story is one defined by gender class technology and changing patterns of production Alcohol was essential to colonial life the region's water was foul milk was generally unavailable and tea and coffee were far too expensive for all but the very wealthy Colonists used alcohol to drink in cooking as a cleaning agent in beauty products and as medicine Meacham finds that the distillation and brewing of alcohol for these purposes traditionally fell to women Advice and recipes in such guidebooks as The Accomplish'd Lady's Delight demonstrate that women were the main producers of alcohol until the middle of the 18th century Men mostly small planters then supplanted women using new and cheaper technologies to make the region's cider ale and whiskey Meacham compares alcohol production in the Chesapeake with that in New England the middle colonies and Europe finding the Chesapeake to be far more isolated than even the other American colonies She explains how home brewers used new technologies such as small alembic stills and inexpensive cider pressing machines in their alcoholic enterprises She links the importation of coffee and tea in America to the temperance movement showing how the wealthy became concerned with alcohol consumption only after they found something less inebriating to drink Taking a few pages from contemporary guidebooks Every Home a Distillery includes samples of historic recipes and instructions on how to make alcoholic beverages American historians will find this study both enlightening and surprising The Self-Reliant Homestead Charles A.
