unpublished archival documents and recently declassified materials Jones Imhotep shows how Canadian defense scientists elaborated a distinctive Northern natural order of violent ionospheric storms and auroral displays and linked it to a machinic order of severe and widespread radio disruptions throughout the country Tracking their efforts through scientific images experimental satellites clandestine maps and machine architectures he argues that these scientists naturalized Canada's technological vulnerabilities as part of a program to reimagine the postwar nation The real and potential failures of machines came to define Canada its hostile Northern nature its cultural anxieties and its geo political vulnerabilities during the early Cold War Jones Imhotep's study illustrates the surprising role of technological failures in shaping contemporary understandings of both nature and nation
