Geospiza magnirostris

Geospiza fortis

1. Which species do you think is best adapted to a diet of small, delicate seeds? Explain why you think so.

Geospiza fortis because it is sharper and can possibly pick up smaller things easier

2. Which species do you think is best adapted to a diet of large, tough-to-crack seeds? Explain.

Geospiza magnirostris because the beak is duller and can pick up the larger seeds

Gizmo Warm-up

Darwin's finches are one of many types of animals on the Galápagos Islands that have unique adaptations, or traits that help an organism survive in its environment. The Rainfall and Bird Beaks Gizmo™ allows you to explore how rainfall influences the range of beak shapes found in a single finch species.

1. The beak depth of a finch is the distance from the top of the beak to the bottom, as shown.

- A. What is the current average beak depth in the Gizmo?

9.92

- B. Select the HISTOGRAM tab. Do all the finches have the same beak depth?

no

2. Click Play (▶) and let the simulation play for five years with average rainfall (10 inches/yr). Select the GRAPH tab and view the Finches vs time and Beak depth vs time graphs.

- A. How does the finch population change?

decreased by 20
