

Protein Structure POGIL™ Activities for AP® Biology

What are the levels of protein structure and what role do functional groups play?

Why?

Proteins accomplish many cellular tasks such as facilitating chemical reactions, providing structure, and carrying information from one cell to another. How a protein chain coils up and folds determines its three-dimensional shape. Its shape will, in turn, determine how it interacts with other molecules and thus performs its function in the cell.

Model 1 – Formation of a Peptide Bond

- Examine the amino acids in Model 1.
 - Circle an amine group in the diagram.
 - Draw a triangle around a carboxylic acid (carboxyl) group.
- How are the amino acids similar to one another?
- How are the amino acids different from one another?
- How many amino acids are involved in the reaction to make a dipeptide?
- In Model 1 the original amino acids are combined through a condensation reaction to make the dipeptide.
 - What does R1 represent in the dipeptide?
 - What does R2 represent in the dipeptide?
- Put a box around the atoms in the amino acids that become the H₂O molecule produced by the reaction in Model 1.
- A peptide bond is a covalent bond linking two amino acids together in a peptide.
 - Circle the peptide bond in Model 1.
 - Between which two atoms in the dipeptide is the peptide bond located?
 - Between what two functional groups is the peptide bond located?
- There are 22 different amino acids found in nature. Two were shown in Model 1. Additional examples are shown below. With your group, write one or two grammatically correct sentences to describe how these amino acids are similar and how they are different. Use the terms R-group, amine group, and carboxyl group in your description.

Mindset Matters Daniel R. Porterfield, 2024-06-25 How colleges can foster growth mindsets among students and why this approach matters We live in an era of escalating tech fueled change Our jobs and the skills we need to work and thrive are constantly evolving and those who can't keep up risk falling behind That's where college comes in In Mindset Matters Daniel R. Porterfield advances a powerful new argument about the value of residential undergraduate education and its role in developing growth mindsets among students The growth mindset according to Porterfield is the belief that we can enhance our core qualities or talents through our efforts strategies and education and with assistance from others People with growth mindsets have faith in self improvement They tend to be goal oriented and optimistic confident that they can master new challenges because they've done so in the past Feedback is their friend errors their opportunities to begin again For students like this college is a multiyear process of self creation and self emergence a becoming that unfolds because they are applying themselves in a place rich with stimulating people happenings resources and ideas America's colleges and universities help students build the skills and self confidence they need for lifelong discovery creativity mentorship teamwork and striving These five mindsets the book argues are critical for thriving in disruptive times and students who develop them will reap the rewards long after they graduate To show how college activates these mindsets and why it matters Porterfield shares the personal stories of thirty recent graduates many the first in their families to attend college Their growth was both self powered and supported by involved faculty engaged peers and opportunity rich campuses Porterfield also outlines how colleges and universities can do more to foster cultures of mentoring and personalized learning that help students become leaders of their own learning
