

Autobiography

My name is Michael Smith and I was born on the 30th of August, 1967 in Long Beach, California. My parents were Eddie Smith and Joan Smith. Both of my parents are deceased. My mom died at the age of 57 in 1994 from lung cancer which was the result of smoking her whole lifetime. My father died at the age of 69 in 2006 from a massive heart attack, which was also the likely result from a lifetime of smoking. Fortunately I have been smart enough to avoid that bad habit.

My early childhood was a typical middle class environment circa the 1960's. My dad worked for Simpson Buick as a parts salesman and my mom was a stay at home mother. I had a happy, normal childhood as an only child, leaving me somewhat spoiled. My mom and dad divorced when I was eight years old and both remarried within a year or so of the divorce. My dad remained married to my stepmom Bev until his death. My mom would marry two more times. My first stepdad Vince became a big part of my life and I maintained close contact with him until his death in 2006, two days after my real dad died. Yes, that was a very bad week, losing both of my dads.

Growing up with split parents was not especially difficult since each of my parents kept me out of their divorce and they got along fine at events where both of them were present. I lived with my mom until I was 16 and in high school. By my sophomore year in high school I had begun to hang around with friends that got me into a lot of trouble with a number of things including smoking pot and drinking. I was rapidly heading down a negative path, but was fortunate enough to notice it before I had done any serious damage. I moved in with my dad and changed high schools and friends.

Autobiographical Writing and British Literature

1783-1834 James Treadwell, 2005-01-20 The word autobiography is a late eighteenth century coinage yet by 1826 it was used as the title for a multi volume anthology of self writing and in 1834 Thomas Carlyle wrote of these Autobiographical times of ours Over the course of those few decades readers and writers came to recognize and name a new genre This book is the first full study of the phenomenon examining both the conditions and the practice of autobiographical writing in Romantic literature Historians of autobiography have often pointed to the turn of the nineteenth century as a pivotal moment In Rousseau and De Quincey's Confessions Wordsworth's Prelude and other canonical documents it has been argued self writing begins to serve the purpose of expressing the individuality autonomy and interiority of the self A more wide ranging view of the actual state of autobiography at the time exposes this narrative as a misrepresentation Self writing does gain a new kind of prominence around 1800 not however because it articulates Romantic ideologies of selfhood but because it becomes a focus of scrutiny and of contention The decades of the Romantic period identified themselves as Autobiographical times but did so anxiously This book asks what forms did that recognition and that anxiety take within the literary culture of the period What did autobiography mean to Romantic readers and writers How do autobiographical texts of the period reflect express and negotiate these conditions As well as reading a wide variety of those documents with single chapters devoted to works by Coleridge Byron and Lamb Treadwell examines writing on and around autobiography essays reviews and other forms of commentary By preserving a continuous relation between the texts and their contexts this book offers the first proper study of what is actually meant by Romantic autobiography

Dangerous Writing Carmen Luz

Fuentes-Vásquez, 2013 This book examines the literary construction of personal identity through autobiographical narratives by three significant writers analysed together for the first time the Scottish Willa Muir 1890 1970 the Canadian Margaret Laurence 1926 1987 and the New Zealander Janet Frame 1924 2004 These apparently dissimilar authors suffered not only geographical but also political marginality they were women from the working class or struggling middle class striving to be considered as professional writers and emerging from countries that might be felt to be under the shadows of economic and political world powers such as England and the United States During their lifetimes they exerted themselves to overcome prejudices about class gender and ethnicity They experienced war and the post war era and lived through most of the twentieth century being accurate witnesses and critics of their times As it discusses major writers who are iconic for the development of the literatures of their respective countries this book also attracts readers who are interested in learning more about the lives of these remarkable women the way their socio historical and geographical circumstances affected their writing and how they expressed such concerns in their autobiographies and other fictional and non fictional works besides considering them in relation to contemporary women writers and autobiographers who underwent similar experiences

Getting to Know Ourselves and Others Through the ABCs Claudia Finkbeiner, Althier Lazar, 2015-01-01 This book is a valuable resource for teachers and other professionals who are looking for a proven way to increase cultural appreciation and awareness New applications of the ABCs model of Cultural Understanding and Communication are presented and discussed in this new volume based on studies done in the United States and Canada and Europe In this ground breaking project the authors describe how the ABCs model complicated and challenged and changed the cultural perceptions of those who participated in it even those who were initially highly resistant to such possibilities At the heart of the project is the exchange of narratives life stories that give insight into the cultural worlds of selves and others In addition to the narratives other instruments including the Transcultural Competence Scale TCC provide further evidence of the positive impact of the ABCs on participants receptivity toward cultural differences In the TRANSABCs project researchers from both sides of the Atlantic invited teacher candidates students who will become workplace and other professionals to write an autobiography A of themselves from various cultural perspectives a biography B of an individual who is culturally different from themselves along particular dimensions and to use these documents to conduct cross cultural comparisons C between themselves and the person they interviewed Furthermore candidates developed culturally responsive ideas for the school or the workplace C These exchanges and analyses produced epiphanies and insights that translated into specific actions to improve cultural understanding and communication in classrooms and workplaces Educators and professionals can take from these examples to inspire their own personal journey toward greater cultural understanding and sensitivity
