Nurses Week 2013 Flyer:

The Last Torpedo Flyers Arthur Aldridge, 2013-05-23 Imagine you are an RAF torpedo pilot in World War Two sent on missions so dangerous that you are later likened to the Kamikaze Suicide wasn't a recognised part of the objective for British airmen yet some pilots felt they had accepted certain death just by climbing into their cockpits There were times in 1942 when Arthur Aldridge felt like this At the age of 19 this courageous young man had quit his studies at Oxford to volunteer for the RAF He flew his Bristol Beaufort like there was no tomorrow a realistic assumption after seeing his best friend die in flames at the end of 1941 Aldridge was awarded a DFC Distinguished Flying Cross for his bravery on the same strike on a German cargo ship during which he lost a wing tip by flying too close to the deck He was equally lucky to survive his squadron's chaotic torpedo attack on the giants of Hitler's maritime fleet during the notorious Channel Dash which saw 40 RAF planes shot down As 1942 wore on and the stress became intolerable Aldridge and his Cockney gunner Bill Carroll held their nerve and Arty was awarded a Bar to his DFC for sinking two enemy ships off Malta and rescuing a fellow pilot while wounded as his own Beaufort took four shells Malta was saved by the skin of its teeth Rommel denied vital supplies in North Africa and the course of the war was turned Aldridge was still only 21 years old Now both 91 but firm friends as ever Aldridge and Carroll are two of the last torpedo airmen who deserve their place in history alongside our heroic Spitfire pilots Their story vividly captures the comradeship that existed between men pushed by war to their very limit Decisions and

Shaban, Margaret Fry, Julie Considine, 2019-07-30 Expanded editorial team all internationally recognised researchers and leaders in Emergency Care Chapter 6 Patient safety and quality care in emergency All chapters revised to reflect the most up to date evidence based research and practice Case studies and practice tips highlight cultural considerations and communication issues Aligns to NSQHSS 2e NMBA and PBA Standards An eBook included in all print purchases Midwest Unrest Ashley

Howard, 2025-05-23 In the nation's so called heartland racism is sometimes subtler than in other parts of the country but just as insidious When Black communities across the United States went up in flames in the 1960s Midwest cities where racial inequity was endemic were among those most likely to burn Midwest Unrest explores those rebellions paying particular attention to the ways that region race class and gender all played critical and often overlapping roles in shaping Black people's resistance to racialized oppression Focusing on the uprisings in three midsize midwestern cities Cincinnati Ohio Omaha Nebraska and Milwaukee Wisconsin Ashley Howard argues that urban rebellions were a working class response to the failure of traditional civil rights activism and growing fissures between the Black working and middle classes Utilizing arrest records Kerner Commission documents and author conducted oral history interviews Howard registers the significant impact the rebellions had in transforming the consciousness of African Americans and in altering the relationship between Black urban communities and the state Specifically multiple parties including municipal governments city residents and most importantly rebels wielded urban revolt as a political tool to achieve their own objectives Revealing a new dimension of the Black Freedom Movement Howard moves the understanding of these disturbances from aberrant acts of violence to historically contingent acts of resistance highlighting the coeval nature of organized protests and violent outbursts

Aerospace Health and Safety: Today and the Future Irina Mordukhovich,Mardi A. Crane-Godreau,Eileen Mcneely,Christopher Scheibler,2023-11-20 Aviation plays vital roles in commerce defense science and leisure travel Irrespective of the purpose of flight crew and passengers are challenged by exposure to a variety of environmental conditions that can differ widely from work and travel environments on the surface of the Earth. With anticipated changes in aviation and space technology, new challenges to the health and safety of crew and passengers can be expected. In this Research Topic, we welcome contributions from those whose work and interests are relevant to the health and safety of crew and passengers. This includes but is not limited to health and safety professionals, FAA examiners, corporate medical officers, aerospace and occupational physicians, physiologists, military and scientific team members, public health professionals, as well as engineers who are tasked with crew and passenger health and safety design projects. While 4.1 billion passengers fly on commercial airlines annually, and this figure is even higher when taking into account privately owned aircraft and military flight, for the most part, aviation is safe. Passengers do arrive at their destinations with little concern to their own well-being, and flight is generally well-tolerated. However, older flyers, people with diagnosed or undiagnosed preexisting disease, and other vulnerable passengers such as young children and pregnant women may be at risk of complications, and crew may be at special risk due to the frequency and duration of their many flight-related exposures. Health and safety issues for crew and passengers include but are not limited to potentially severe circadian rhythm disruption, potential health effects of low-level cosmic ionizing radiation exposure at altitude, reduced oxygen delivery and tissue hypoxia at cabin pressurization, cabin air contamination by engine gases, toxic materials used in uniforms and some cabin seat materials, occupational noise, pesticides used for cabin disinsection, lack of adequate crew rest on layovers or between flights, cardiovascular demands of flight, and effects of flight-related dehydration. The current absence of screening protocols, especially in the context of a rising number of elderly and vulnerable flyers, lack of healthy nutrition at airports and in flight, availability of food and hydration, as well as adequate cabin temperature under delay conditions, effects of alcohol use on flight-related physiological and behavioral health risks, anxiety and psychological distress associated with air travel, the effects of long-haul or ultra-long-haul flights on thromboembolic events, as well as smoking cessation efforts and related psychological outcomes, job-related stress and harassment among crew, cosmic ionizing and non-ionizing radiation exposure, have drawn attention, as have historic exposures of crew and passengers to second-hand cigarette smoke. The threat of political and interpersonal violence and altercations involving aviation cannot be overlooked. On-board medical emergencies run a wide gamut, and the capacity to respond becomes more problematic as the duration of flights becomes longer or in the case of flight over oceans and the poles. In addition, in-flight and post-flight embolisms and myocardial infarctions are more prevalent than might be expected. We hence encourage manuscripts that address in-flight medical response, including the capabilities on different types of aircraft, on potential interventions by crew and medical volunteers. In addition, aviation as a vector for the carriage of disease is a significant concern to public health and security of populations world-wide, and we welcome submissions regarding infectious disease epidemiology and medicine as it relates to air travel. Insects and occasional unplanned travel by birds and rodents can present additional public health concerns. We are approaching an era where space travel may soon be increasingly common Future flights for near Earth orbit by leisure travelers and as well as travel to the moon and Mars raise a host of new questions with health and safety implications What are the proposed health and safety accommodations going to be Who will be allowed to travel Perhaps the most interesting question is who will make the rules Family Relationships and Familial Responses to Health Issues Sampson Lee Blair, Jennifer Higgins

McCormick, 2014-10-13 Around the globe families are often faced with a variety of health issues often as a result of social political religious and economic forces This multidisciplinary volume addresses the impact these issues have on the family as a unit how they impact family relationships as well as how the family as a whole responds Tales from Kentucky Nurses

William Lynwood Montell, 2015-02-20 This oral history shares stories of Kentucky nurses from frontier births to emergency rooms and from the early twentieth century to the present day From frontier times to the present day Kentucky nurses have served with intelligence and energy always ensuring that their patients received the best available care Folklorist and oral historian William Lynwood Montell collects nearly two hundred stories from these hard working men and women in Tales from Kentucky Nurses From humorous anecdotes to spine chilling coincidences tragic circumstances and heartwarming encounters the tales in this lively volume are recorded exactly as they were told to Montell This collection features anecdotes from the famous Frontier Nursing Service which provided essential care to families in remote areas of the state and whose leader Mary Breckinridge is remembered for her wit and kindness In addition Montell's interviewees share ghost stories and describe folk remedies like the practice of placing an axe under a woman's pillow during labor to cut the pain These firsthand accounts not only pay homage to an underappreciated profession but also preserve important aspects of Kentucky's history not likely to be recorded elsewhere Merenstein & Gardner's Handbook of Neonatal Intensive Care Sandra Lee

Gardner, Brian S. Carter, MD, FAAP, Mary I Enzman-Hines, Jacinto A. Hernandez, 2015-04-30 Merenstein maternal obesity hypotension and shock in premature infants pain and sedation dedicated feeding sets vs IVs for safety MRSA pediatric stroke autism screening discharge coordination and more NEW The latest AAP recommendations and guidelines for hypoglycemia jaundice herpes respiratory syncytial virus and neonatal transport team composition EXPANDED Revised Evidence Based Clinical Practice chapter focuses on evidence based practice and quality improvement and the role of qualitative research in EBP EXPANDED Updated Infection in the Neonate chapter features new GBS guidelines and CRP research The Good
