Shafer, Gary Jacobs, 2020-06-23 Since the turn of the last century when the field of catalysis was born iron and cobalt have been key players in numerous catalysis processes These metals due to their ability to activate CO and CH₄ have a major economic impact worldwide Several industrial processes and synthetic routes use these metals biomass to liquids BTL coal to liquids CTL natural gas to liquids GTL water gas shift alcohol synthesis alcohol steam reforming polymerization processes cross coupling reactions and photocatalyst activated reactions A vast number of materials are produced from these processes including oil lubricants waxes diesel and jet fuels hydrogen e g fuel cell applications gasoline rubbers plastics alcohols pharmaceuticals agrochemicals feed stock chemicals and other alternative materials However given the true complexities of the variables involved in these processes many key mechanistic issues are still not fully defined or understood This Special Issue of Catalysis will be a collaborative effort to combine current catalysis research on these metals from experimental and theoretical perspectives on both heterogeneous and homogeneous catalysts We welcome contributions from the catalysis community on catalyst characterization kinetics reaction mechanism reactor development theoretical modeling and surface science
