Name	School	Grade	Course/Subj ect	Number of Student s	Interval of Instruction
		9	Integrated Math I		Sept. 2019 – Apr. 2020
Standards, Rationale, and Assessment Method
Focused Area: Mathematical Modeling Rationale: Students will apply the mathematics they know to solve problems arising in everyday life, society and the workplace. They are able to identify important quantities in a practical situation and map their relationships using mathematical tools. They can analyze those relationships mathematically to draw conclusions. They routinely interpret their mathematical results in the context of the situation and reflect on whether the results make sense, possibly improving the model if it has not served its purpose. High school students also should understand and use stated assumptions, definitions, and previously established results in constructing arguments. They make conjectures and build a logical progression of statements to explore the truth of their conjectures. They are able to analyze situations by breaking them into cases, and can recognize and use counterexamples. They reason inductively about data, making plausible arguments that take into account the context from which the data arose. High school students are also able to compare the effectiveness of two plausible arguments, distinguish correct logic or reasoning from that which is flawed, and—if there is a flaw in an argument—explain what it is. High school students learn to determine domains to which an argument applies, listen or read the arguments of others, decide whether they make sense, and ask useful questions to clarify or improve the arguments. Standards: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Solve multi-step contextual word problems with degree of difficulty appropriate to the course, requiring application of course-level knowledge and skills.
