

Each year around the first week in May
We celebrate an unusual holiday.

Teaching is our JOY so fanfare isn't needed
But we always appreciate the thanks when we are greeted
By parents and families who affirm what we do
With a smile, gratitude and even a gift or two.

This is the week we celebrate teacher appreciation
But now WE are not the one in charge of your child's education.

So let us begin this week by thanking YOU
For the hours of work and all that you do.

Thank you for showing your students such care
Knowing you have nearly no time to spare.

Thank you for patience as we work out a plan
Not knowing how long this crisis will span.

Thank you for juggling all that you do
Playing parent, employee, and now teacher too!

Thank you for managing the teaching through wiggles,
As you sit across children on work calls through giggles.

Thank you for being creative and engaging
The pictures of what you've done are not short of amazing

Thank you for modeling calm in the crazy
May this season be short but may it not be hazy.

May you children remember how you much you took
How you managed it all even though it's a ton.

We want you to know whether on the front lines
Working on computers or answering lines.

We are grateful for you and all that you do
As parents and TEACHERS, and HEROES too!

Happy TEACHER appreciation week!

Poetry of the Seasons ,1898 Promoting Linguistic Diversity and Whole-school Development Antoinette Camilleri,European Centre for Modern Languages,2007-01-01 The Council of Europe stresses the importance of multilingualism in society and of individual plurilingual competence as means to social cohesion Ultimately it is within the school that the necessary innovations need to take place The case studies presented in this publication are an authentic illustration of how this is being realised in different contexts and what successes and challenges it presents By bringing these innovative language education programmes and school profiles to the fore its participating in the creation of a new paradigm of school leadership whereby pupils parents and the local community instead of being excluded controlled and forgotten become actively involved in language endeavours Similarly teachers can move on from being simply the executors of education programmes to becoming participants in drawing up implementing and evaluating school policies
