militarization efforts by local state and federal authorities responding to both local and international circumstances El Paso's Mexicanization in the early decades of the twentieth century contributed to strong racial tensions between the region's Anglo population and newly arrived Mexicans Anglos and Mexicans alike turned to violence in order to deal with a racial situation rapidly spinning out of control Highlighting a binational focus that sheds light on other US Mexico border zones in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Militarizing the Border establishes historical precedent for current border issues such as undocumented immigration violence and racial antagonism on both sides of the boundary line This important evaluation of early US border militarization and its effect on racial and social relations among Anglos Mexicans and Mexican Americans will afford scholars policymakers and community leaders a better understanding of current policy and its potential failure
