SLA Research and Materials Development for Language Learning Brian Tomlinson, 2016-05-20 SLA Research and Materials Development for Language Learning is the only book available to focus on the interaction between second language acquisition theory and materials development for language learning. It consists of contributions written by experts in SLA, experts in materials development, researchers who have expertise in both fields, and introductions and conclusions by the editor. The book is organized into four major sections: position statements, materials driven by SLA theory, evaluations of materials in relation to SLA theory, and proposals for action that offer a diverse range of perspectives while maintaining a cohesive and comprehensive overview on the subject. This book is ideal for post graduate courses in applied linguistics and second language acquisition and for researchers interested in the relationship between SLA and materials development.

Translation and Own-Language Use in Language Teaching Eva Skopečková, 2024-04-06 This book reconsiders the role of translation and own language use in the EFL/English as a Foreign Language classroom. It shows prospective teachers how to use the learners' own language and translation optimally. The author surveys current research about the EFL classroom and presents both a theoretical framework and a didactic model for using translation and learners' mother tongues. This is done through an action research project assessing the proposed didactic model for optimal translation practice in English Language teaching (ELT) through its integration into teacher education. The book will be of interest to students and researchers in the areas of Translation Studies and Applied Linguistics, particularly EFL, ESL, TEFL, and TESOL, as well as educators and designers of pre-
