Subcommittee on VA-HUD-Independent Agencies, 1991 Beckett's Industrial Chocolate Manufacture and Use Steve T. Beckett, Mark S.

Fowler, Gregory R. Ziegler, 2017-05-08 Since the publication of the first edition of Industrial Chocolate Manufacture and Use in 1988 it has become the leading technical book for the industry From the beginning it was recognised that the complexity of the chocolate industry means that no single person can be an expert in every aspect of it For example the academic view of a process such as crystallisation can be very different from that of a tempering machine operator so some topics have more than one chapter to take this into account It is also known that the biggest selling chocolate in say the USA tastes very different from that in the UK so the authors in the book were chosen from a wide variety of countries making the book truly international Each new edition is a mixture of updates rewrites and new topics In this book the new subjects include artisan or craft scale production compound chocolates and sensory This book is an essential purchase for all those involved in the manufacture use and sale of chocolate containing products especially for confectionery and chocolate scientists engineers and technologists working both in industry and academia The new edition also boasts two new co editors Mark Fowler and Greg Ziegler both of whom have contributed chapters to previous editions of the book Mark Fowler has had a long career at Nestle UK working in Cocoa and Chocolate research and development he is retiring in 2013 Greg Ziegler is a professor in the food science department at Penn State University in the USA Non-invasive Brain Stimulation in Neurology and Psychiatry Ignacio Obeso, Antonio Oliviero, Marjan Jahanshahi, 2017-04-11 The potential efficacy of non invasive brain stimulation procedures for the management of specific symptoms in diverse neurological and psychiatric conditions has been tested in the past decade or so For example repetitive transcranial magnetic stimulation rTMS over prefrontal areas has been extensively investigated as a treatment for patients with medication resistant depression and has been shown to be associated with improvement of mood Similarly non invasive stimulation techniques have been applied to various symptoms of Parkinson's disease such as bradykinesia and dyskinesias with variable degrees of success reported However attempts to expand previously observed clinical improvements to other neurological disorders e.g. Tourette's syndrome autism epilepsy has been controversial In trying to bypass potential confounding elements researchers aim to target neural populations altered in disease to either increase or decrease their corrupted baseline activity In addition a complementary approach is to extend stimulation protocols that results enhanced behavior in healthy participants This Frontiers Research Topic on non invasive brain stimulation and enhancement of function tries to combine a series of articles from researchers who used non invasive brain stimulation to aim improvement of either a motoric cognitive or behavioral nature investigated behaviorally physiologically or using brain imaging techniques in clinical populations Investigation of the relation between enhancement of function in healthy populations and clinical improvement in patients with neurological or psychiatric disorders needs further consideration
