What Is Intervisibility:

Archaeology And Geographic Information Systems Gary R Lock,G Stancic,1995-07-11 Geographic information systems GIS applications are viewed with increasing interest by the archaeology community and this book with its diversity of topics and authorship should be a useful resource Complementing the volume Interpreting Space Taylor It is apparent that there are fundamental differences between North American and European archaeological uses of GIS Primarily these differences lie in the types of evidence for past landscapes that are available for study in the two continents and secondly in the different approaches to archaeology and specifically the theory and practice of landscape archaeology This title centres on the role of archaeological theory in cultural resource management CRM and in GIS applications generally It showcases the important debate which takes the emphasis away from the technology of GIS and places it back within the central concerns of archaeology and particularly European archaeology Archaeology and GIS includes material on such concerns as CRM applications landscape archaeology intra site applications and explicitly theoretical concerns thus representing the state of GIS applications in European archaeology Contributions come from countries such as France Italy Hungary UK USA the Netherlands the Czech Republic Spain Slovenia and Finland

Assessment of the Ergonomic Quality of Hand-Held Tools and Computer Input Devices H. Strasser,2007-10-05 The International Ergonomics Association IEA is currently developing standards for Ergonomic Quality in Design EQUID which primarily intends to promote ergonomics principles and the adaptation of a process approach for the development of products work systems and services It is important to assess the ergonomic quality of products hand held tools and computer input devices through working processes that represent reality Well designed working tools can be expected to reduce or eliminate fatigue discomfort accidents and health problems and they can lead to improvements in productivity and quality Furthermore absenteeism job turnover and training costs can positively be influenced by the working tools and the environment Not all these short term and long term issues of working tools can be quantified in pragmatically oriented ergonomic research approaches But multi channel electromyography which enables the measurement of the physiological costs of the muscles involved in handling tools during standardized working tests and subjective assessments of experienced subjects enable a reliable insight in the essential ergonomic criteria of working tools and products In this respect it is advantageous to provide a test procedure in which working tests can be carried out alternating both with test objects and reference models business and industry from regional and community planning architecture and transportation to public health crime mapping and national defense Michael DeMers's Fundamentals of Geographic Information Fourth Edition brings an already essential text up to date capturing the significant developments in the field and responding to the needs of a diverse set of readers from geographers to students in a host of other fields If you are a non geographer or new to GIS get a quick introduction to the lay of the land of GIS through the new Spatial Learner's Permit section Then join in the excitement of discovery with GIS databases as you absorb the such concepts and skills as digital geographic data and maps GIS data models spatial analysis measurement and classification cartographic modeling and GIS design Responding to both the needs and technical skills of today's students this Fourth Edition Makes concepts accessible to students from a wide range of backgrounds Offers more practical and relevant coverage of GIS design and implementation Reflects the latest changes in GIS applications Examines in greater depth the underlying computer science behind GIS Uncovers the most recent developments on GIS research Expands coverage of the increasingly robust literature on cartographic visualization Includes Web based labs and links to current and updated dataset resources Taking an open ended hands on approach that gets you to ask your own questions about the underlying concepts the Fourth Edition helps you not only master the basics but acquire the active problem solving skills that are a key component of success in the GIS industry

Monuments on the Horizon Quentin Bourgeois, 2013 Barrows as burial markers are ubiquitous throughout North Western Europe In some regions dense concentrations of monuments form peculiar configurations such as long alignments while in others they are spread out extensively dotting vast areas with hundreds of mounds These vast barrow landscapes came about through thousands of years of additions by several successive prehistoric and historic communities Yet little is known about how these landscapes developed and came about That is what this research set out to do By unravelling the histories of specific barrow landscapes in the Low Countries several distinct activity phases of intense barrow construction could be recognised Each of these phases contributed in a particular fashion to how the barrow landscape developed and reveals shifting attitudes to these landscape monuments By creating new monuments in a specific place and in a particular fashion prehistoric communities purposefully transformed the form and shape of the barrow landscape Using several GIS techniques such as a skyline analysis this research was able to demonstrate how each barrow then took up a specific and different position within such a social landscape While the majority of the barrows were only visible from relatively close by specific monuments took up a dominating position cresting the horizon and they were visible from much further away It was argued that these burial mounds remained important landscape monuments on the purple heathlands They continued to attract attention and by their visibility ensured to endure in the collective memory of the communities shaping themselves around these monuments This publication is part of the Ancestral Mounds Research Project of the University of Leiden

Military Strategy and Tactics Reiner Huber, 2013-11-11 This volume brings forth a set of selected papers from the Conference on Modeling Land Sattle Systems for Military Planning

Sponsored by the Special Programme Panel on Systems Science of the NATO Science Committee the conference took place in Ottobrunn Germany at the War Gaming Centre of Industrieanlagen Betriebsgesellschaft The idea to organize a conference on land battle system models was first suggested to me in 1972 by Andreas Mortensen then a member of the Norwegian Defence Research Establishment and presently at the SHAPE Technical Centre when we discussed the apparent inconsistencies of various evaluations of force capability within NATO Frequently decision makers are confronted by contradictory results of different studies addressing essentially the same problem leaving them with the impression that the tools of systems analysis and operations research may not be very objective guides However experienced systems researchers know that a detailed comparison of models their assumptions and inputs would generally show that results are not really contradictory But not only seem the decision processes in large national and international organizations to be such that a comparison can hardly ever be accomplished also the documentation available is rarely sufficient to really comprehend the differences in results For these reasons we felt that an effort to review the state of the art of modeling in support of force capability assessments was overdue

Classics from IJGIS Peter Fisher, 2006-07-20 The past 20 years can be regarded as the adolescence of geographic information science GIS as it grew from a burgeoning area of study into a mature and thriving field During those two decades the International Journal of Geographic Information Science formerly Systems IJGIS was one of the most prominent academic guiding forces in GIScience

The Good Stones Richard Bradley, Colleen E.
