Literature ... ,1881 Why Do Animals Migrate? Bobbie Kalman,2009 This book has fabulous photographs easy to follow text and will bring migrating animals to life for children Come inside and follow grazing zebras and antelopes as they move in their search for food See the different kinds of birds that make their seasonal trips to warmer climates and whales who swim huge distances to reproduce Reptilian People Living With Us AQEEL AHMED,2024-04-07 In Summary Tim a brave little boy finds a secret door in a normal Sunnyville yard that leads to an underground world full of reptiles People who live in both realms and Tim himself will soon be on an amazing trip that starts with this chance meeting Tim makes a groundbreaking link with young reptile Scaley because he is brave and naturally curious This starts a chain of events that will change the course of their communities for good Tim is drawn to the reptilians advanced technology rich culture and deep wisdom as he discovers this hidden area He learns about their long past why they have been hiding and the problems they have to deal with in their environment Using what they knew and a strong desire to connect their worlds Tim and Scaley set out to encourage respect and understanding between people and reptiles Their journey will be hard because they have to get past their first fears mistrust and confusion But Tim and Scaley keep at it swapping technologies setting up cultural exchanges and speaking out for environmental protection Slowly but surely trust and teamwork start to grow Over time their steadfast commitment turns fear into acceptance skepticism into awe and finally a groundbreaking agreement for Sunnyville and the reptilian world to be friends and work together Their hard work pays off with a grand celebration that marks the start of a new era of prosperity for both sides and brings together two towns that were once split When the treaty is signed the people of Sunnyville legally accept the reptilians and agree to work together value each other s knowledge and have the same goal The story of Tim and Scaley shows how friendship understanding and an open mind can change things It talks about how exciting it is to find out about things you don t know how powerful variety is and how amazing it is when beings from different worlds live together Their trip not only builds a bridge between people and reptiles but it also gives people hope for a future where friendship and teamwork win out over fear and bias Chapter 1 What They Found Tim s artistic mind and open minded interest had always made him dream about finding out secrets and visiting faraway places He was ten years old which was just the right age for adventure He was old enough to go on his own trips but still young enough to think that magic existed everywhere Sunnyville where he grew up was a quiet neighborhood with lots of familiar streets and people But to Tim it looked like there was a mystery around every turn and a story waiting to be told in every shadow The sky was a beautiful shade of blue this sunny afternoon and the white clouds floating by added to the beauty Tim thought today would be a great day for an adventure that would require his most trusty tool an old pretty rusty spade He had heard stories about riches buried deep in the ground and old things that were just waiting for someone brave enough to dig them up He went to the farthest corner of his garden where the trees cast lovely cool shades and the grass got a little wilder. The stories were still playing over and over in his mind. The satisfying thuds of Tim's shovel digging into the soft ground were very fulfilling. Every time he dug up some dirt he felt a rush of joy as if his shovel would suddenly hit a chest full of gold or reveal the door to a secret tunnel. As proof that he was a real traveler, the ground stained his hands and clothes. The sun warmed his back. Suddenly his shovel hit something other than the soft ground and twisted roots he had been hitting before. His arms were shocked by a sudden hard hit. He eagerly pushed the dirt away which revealed a trapdoor. It was old, made of strong wood and had brass hinges that looked like they had been there for years. Tim was so excited that his veins pumped. Someone finally found it, a real gem in his own yard. Tim grabbed the metal handle with both hands, and worry in his mind. It had some rust on it and felt cool when you touched it. When he pulled on it, the trapdoor creaked open as if it didn't like being pushed open so quickly. He was met with a rush of cold, musty air that smelled like forgotten places. Under him was darkness, a doorway to a world he didn't know. Tim took out a flashlight, took a deep breath to get brave, and then he walked into the dark. The steep, narrow stairs twisted a little as you went deeper into the ground. Tim's flashlight beam bounced off the walls and lit up the wet stones and roots that had crawled through the cracks. Just as the stairs ended, a huge cave came into view. Tim saw Scaley for the first time in the dim light of his flashlight. Tim had never seen anything like Scaley. Its green, scaly skin had a small shine to it when it was lit up. He was about the same height as Tim, and his eyes were very sharp. Tim had heard scary stories about monsters and dragons, but Scaley didn't seem dangerous. He seems just as shocked by Tim's look as Tim was by his own. They just stared at each other for a moment. They were from very different worlds but were brought together by chance. Tim thought back to the stories his grandma had told him about how kindness and understanding are the real keys to finding new things. Tim talked about himself in a nice way. Following a short pause, Scaley introduced himself in a rough voice. The original shock and alarm went away and was replaced by a normal interest. Scaley tentatively asked Tim to explore his world, which was an underground realm below Sunnyville's famous streets that Tim had never thought was possible. As Tim followed his flashlight deeper into the tunnels, he was amazed to find beautiful but strange plants, strange but beautiful crystals, and elaborate carvings that told stories from the past. Tim found a lot more good things that day than a treasure chest full of gold. It was the start of a great friendship that would last across two countries and show that being open, kind, and interested were the best ways to learn about the world's wonders. With each step he took deeper into the underground world, Tim knew this was just the start of his biggest adventure yet.

Chapter 2: The First Message

As Tim walked into the huge space under his yard, he felt a rush of both joy and fear. He was aware that what he had found was even more amazing than the most fantastical things he had read as a child. Scaley, a being from another world who showed up in front of Tim, didn't know he was there. Scaley was just as shocked as Tim. His scales sparkled in the dim light. It seemed like they were both about to do something new and different, which made them feel uneasy with each other. Scaley's first reaction was to softly hiss off the stone walls of the cavern The sound made me feel protective like I needed to protect myself from things I didn't know Even though fear was making his heart race Tim remembered the lessons of bravery and kindness he had learned from his books He understood that the unknown could be both wonderful and scary So Tim started Her voice was a little shaky but honest His words introduced himself and filled in the blanks between what was known and what wasn't It was a very important time and fear could have easily kept them apart Scaley was interested in Tim because of his smooth voice calm demeanor and real question The animal stopped hissing and his eyes grew interested Tim watched this change happen and his fear went away making him feel more and more amazed When Scaley realized Tim was no longer a threat but could be a friend he began the process of merging their worlds He waved to Tim to follow him and the two of them went deeper into the underground house which was different from anything Tim had ever seen When I first stepped into Scaley's realm it was like I was in a fantastic and amazing storybook where there were surprises around every turn After going through the first level of the underground house Tim was shocked and amazed Everything he knew about the universe was wrong with this universe Bioluminescent plants gave off a soft glow that lit up the tunnel making it look like the light was pulsed with life There was a fresh smell of dirt and a hint of sweetness in the cold crisp air It was a universe full of secrets from long ago and had a strong link to Earth Scaley saw that Tim was interested and started to talk showing Tim different plants and explaining what they were used for He showed Tim how they carved their homes out of the rock grew mushrooms and other plants underground and used crystals to make light and energy Every time they shared information and thoughts it made their relationship stronger This first chat or engagement set the stage for a friendship that turned out to be much stronger than imagined It turned out that Tim was living in a world with many more interesting things than he had thought possible Scaley grew up in the shadows below and found in Tim a link to the world above that he had only heard about in stories that had been passed down from generation to generation Their trip together had only just begun but they had already learned something very important They learned that even if you're afraid of the unknown at first there are always chances for great friendships exciting experiences and the coming together of different worlds They set out on a trip that would show them both how amazing it is to accept each other's differences and how powerful it is to understand each other Tim and Scaley's first meeting and talk were about more than just getting to know each other Even though problems came up out of the blue it was a time of friendship and being together It proved that if you are ready to listen and keep an open mind you can make friends in the strangest places And as they kept exploring Scaley's underground world they did so as friends both human and reptile eager to share what they had learned and help each other
