Ubiquitous and Pervasive Commerce George Roussos, 2006-02-20 At the core of this book is the interplay between technological and business innovation and social practice Although the benefits of 50 years of rapid advances in digital telecommunications and computing technology have not benefited everyone equally they have nevertheless transformed almost every aspect of the way we live One area where technology has had a clear impact is in the way we conduct business The rate of change that brings about modernity has been considerably strengthened by technological advances applied to product manufacturing distribution financing and management which arguably form the substrate for globalization and consumerism It is thus no surprise that businesses closely monitor advances in technology and invest considerable resources in exploring possible new applications and market opportunities Yet consumers acceptance of new ways of buying and selling depends as much on business and technology as on our society's culture and the culture of the material environment that defines our values sensibilities and thus our commitments Moreover the rate of technological innovation is such that to the consumer technology implementation is fully opaque Nonetheless opportunities to carry out commerce in novel ways also introduce risk to established social structures conventions and institutions In modernity risk management is one of the core functions of society and to be successful in this societies depend on their trust of experts Experts take risks on behalf of society and are responsible for evaluating the full extent of a particular set of hazards including those associated with a particular technology

Art and Design in 1960s New York Amanda Gluibizzi,2021-02-26 Art and Design in 1960s New York explores the mutual influence between fine art and graphic design in New York City during the long decade of the 1960s Beginning with advertising's creative revolution and its relationship to pop artists the book traces design and art's developing interest in responses to civic problems such as the proliferation of billboards navigation through the city's streets and subways and issues of deteriorating infrastructure The strategies exploited by these artists and designers resulted in similar approaches to visual imagery and shared techniques for thinking about and responding to the city in which they lived KDD ... ,2001
