The Vocational-technical Library Collection Bruce Reinhart, 1970      Financial Innovation and Engineering in Islamic Finance Samir Alamad, 2017-04-13 This book provides two important contributions to existing theories in the financial innovation literature First it extends the existing literature of innovation orientation to a completely new field and construct that is based on a religious imperative as a framework within which financial innovation is constrained It explains how an innovation orientation in IFIs can be directed within religious rules which indicates that innovation orientation in IFIs is a learning philosophy Second the book introduces and examines the plasticity of Shariah as a shared boundary object and its dynamic role in managing tension and conflicting values in the financial innovation process Furthermore building on the empirical results the study illustrates the insights that each theoretical lens affords into practices of collaboration and develops a novel analytical framework for understanding religious orientation towards financial innovation This practical contribution of the developed framework could form the basis for a standardised framework for the Islamic finance industry The book concludes by noting the policy and managerial implications of its findings and provides directions for further research      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002-04      Managing Services Alan Nankervis, Yuki Miyamoto, Ruth Taylor, John Milton-Smith, 2005-10-27 The rapid increase in global services during the last few decades is without doubt one of the most challenging social cultural political and especially economic forces of our time Services have supplanted agriculture manufacturing and resources as the primary source of international competitive advantage in many countries providing wealth employment and almost unlimited future opportunities for growth whether in traditional or more innovative
