couple Tommy and Tuppence to the reader It was 2 p m on the afternoon of May 7 1915 The Lusitania had been struck by two torpedoes in succession and was sinking rapidly while the boats were being launched with all possible speed The women and children were being lined up awaiting their turn Some still clung desperately to husbands and fathers others clutched their children closely to their breasts One girl stood alone slightly apart from the rest She was quite young not more than eighteen She did not seem afraid and her grave steadfast eyes looked straight ahead I beg your pardon A man s voice beside her made her start and turn She had noticed the speaker more than once amongst the first class passengers There had been a hint of mystery about him which had appealed to her imagination He spoke to no one If anyone spoke to him he was quick to rebuff the overture Also he had a nervous way of looking over his shoulder with a swift suspicious glance She noticed now that he was greatly agitated There were beads of perspiration on his brow He was evidently in a state of overmastering fear And yet he did not strike her as the kind of man who would be afraid to meet death Taken from The Secret Adversary written by Agatha Christie

Agatha Christie, 2012-05-23 The Secret Adversary is a work of detective fiction by Agatha Christie and first published in the United Kingdom by The Bodley Head in January 1922 and in the United States by Dodd Mead and Company later in that same year. The book introduces the characters of Tommy and Tuppence who feature in three other Christie books and one collection of short stories written throughout her writing career. Plot summary: Set in 1919 London and various other outlying locales throughout Britain, young couple Tommy Beresford and Prudence Tuppence Cowley, out of work and money, form The Young Adventurers Ltd, planning to hire themselves out as adventurers willing to do anything go anywhere. An unreasonable offer is refused. Being overheard by Mr Whittington, Tuppence is offered a comfortable position only to be rejected after she gives her name as Jane Finn, a name Tommy overheard when he and Tuppence earlier entered Lyons for tea and a bite and were walking to their table. Funny scraps one does overhear. Lyons was the same restaurant at which Whittington overheard Tommy and Tuppence's plan for their new joint venture. Whittington becomes suspicious of Tuppence, believing her to be blackmailing him. The meeting ends abruptly with Tuppence receiving money with the understanding that she will refrain from using her albeit nonexistent knowledge. Convinced that they can get further money out of Whittington if they play their cards right, Tommy and Tuppence prepare to shadow him only to discover that he has closed his office and disappeared without a trace. His behaviour indicates to them that there is another angle to the story. To find out, they place an advertisement asking for information regarding Jane Finn. One response is from a Mr Carter, a leading figure in an unnamed British intelligence agency who provides the background to Jane Finn, all of which is earlier revealed to the reader in the book's prologue. Jane Finn was a passenger on the RMS Lusitania when it sank four years prior in 1915. An American man, knowing he would not be on the lifeboats, entrusted her with getting a secret draft treaty to the American embassy in London should she survive the sinking and be rescued. Since that time, neither Jane Finn nor the draft treaty have been found. At the same time, publication of the treaty's contents would compromise the current British government, potentially leading to a bolshevik coup. Tommy and Tuppence agree to work for Carter on an unofficial basis with the aim of recovering the treaty and foiling the bolshevists, and especially their elusive leader Mr Brown. Carter agrees to cover all their expenses as well as pay them a large annualized sum.
