PREFACE BY GLENN ALBIN FOREWORD BY CALVIN KLEIN

"I was very honored when Christopher asked me to edit this project; and I admit I've taken great pleasure in the work." CAROL KLEIN

"This photographer is no voyeur. He doesn't get his images crouching in wait for Bamm-Bamm to wander into focus. This is a full-volume experience, and when you're around Christopher, you're on his rollercoaster." GLENN ALBIN

"How lucky to have Chris Stokes as a neighbor: He plays loud music all night, has great looking kids coming and going, love the results of that circus—elegance and unabashed beauty that is born." BRUCE WEBER

"His work is fearless, ironic, iconoclastic—transcendently casual. I like the ease with the horse."

Roger Owen author of State Power and Politics in the Making of the Modern Middle East Movies and Methods Bill Nichols, 1976 VOLUME 2 Movies and Methods Volume II captures the developments that have given history and genre studies imaginative new models and indicates how feminist structuralist and psychoanalytic approaches to film have achieved fresh valuable insights In his thoughtful introduction Nichols provides a context for the paradoxes that confront film studies today He shows how shared methods and approaches continue to stimulate much of the best writing about film points to common problems most critics and theorists have tried to resolve and describes the internal contradictions that have restricted the usefulness of post structuralism Mini introductions place each essay in a larger context and suggest its linkages with other essays in the volume A great variety of approaches and methods characterize film writing today and the final part conveys their diversity from statistical style analysis to phenomenology and from gay criticisms to neoformalism This concluding part also shows how the rigorous use of a broad range of approaches has helped remove post structuralist criticism from its position of dominance through most of the seventies and early eighties Publisher description Rhetorics of Value Corinne A. Kratz, 2025-03-28 In Rhetorics of Value Corinne A Kratz explores how exhibition design creates and conveys values that have the potential to touch educate and engage visitors Drawing on case studies from the Victoria and Albert Museum museums in South Africa and Kenya a Hawaiian resort hotel and the Smithsonian s National Museum of African American History and Culture among others Kratz shows how exhibits help shape and narrate cultural categories values and histories while provoking questions and evoking memories and experiences She crosses contexts to consider ethnographic history and art exhibits in national and community museums and other display settings Through these examples Kratz traces how exhibition designers combine objects texts images lighting audio space and narratives to craft a complex multilayered communicative form that visitors experience as they move through museums By investigating the relationship between audience reception and exhibition design strategies Kratz contends that through design exhibits can shape the ways we know the stories we tell and our contours of meaning and engagement The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Psychoanalysis Vera J. Camden, 2021-12-16 Combining literature and psychoanalysis this collection foregrounds the work of literary creators as foundational to psychoanalysis The Social History of Rape Paul Tabori, 1971 A Cultural History of Sexuality in the Middle Ages Ruth Evans, 2012-03-01 Historians of sexuality have often assumed that medieval people were less interested in sex than we are But people in the Middle Ages wrote a great deal about sex in confessors manuals in virginity treatises and in literary texts This volume looks afresh at the cultural meanings that sex had throughout the period presenting new evidence and offering new interpretations of known material Acknowledging that many of the categories that we use today to talk about sexuality are inadequate for understanding sex in premodern times the volume draws on important recent work in the historiography of medieval sexuality to address the conceptual and methodological challenges the period presents A Cultural History of Sexuality in the Middle Ages presents an overview of the period with essays on heterosexuality homosexuality sexual variations religious and legal issues health concerns popular beliefs about sexuality prostitution and erotica

Encyclopaedia of Psychiatry D. Leigh,C.M. Pare,J. Marks,2012-12-06 Psychiatry is a discipline that crosses many frontiers involving a know ledge of the anatomy physiology and biochemistry of the nervous system of general medicine of sociology of psychology of the law and of all those subjects which comprise the behavioural sciences Moreover in the field of psychiatry the explosion of knowledge has led to an increase in special ization in sub disciplines To all those interested in psychiatry this diversity causes real problems They may have to consult a wide variety of sources before finding the answer to what may be in fact a relatively simple question This encyclopaedia aims at providing straightforward answers to the many questions that may arise The editors wish to stress that this is not intended to be an advanced treatise on the minutiae of the subject There will be entries with the contents of which some experts may disagree others which may seem to err on the side of simplicity or of dog matism For whatever imperfections there may be the editors take full responsibility They hope that no major topics have been omitted and that the coverage is sufficiently comprehensive as to provide the reader whether he be directly involved in psychiatry or not with a useful and practical guide to the subject The Culture of the Case Frederic J.

Schwartz,2023-06-13 How artists in twentieth century Germany adapted the idea of the medical or legal case as an artistic strategy to push to the fore sexualities scandals and crimes that were otherwise concealed In early twentieth century Germany the artistic avant garde borrowed procedures from the medical and juridical realms to expose and debate matters that society preferred remain hidden and unspoken Frederic J Schwartz explores how the evocation or creation of a case provided artists with a means to engage themes that ranged from blasphemy to Lustmord or sexual murder Shedding light on the case as a cultural form Schwartz shows its profound effect on artists and the ways it dovetailed with methods used by these figures to exploit fundamental changes taking place across the mass media of their time As Schwartz shows the case was a common denominator that connected seemingly disparate works George Grosz and Rudolf Schlichter drew on it for their violent visual art as did architect Adolf Loos when he equated ornament with crime Expressionists meanwhile approached the question of whether the so called mad shared a right of public expression with those deemed sane and examined medical and legal approaches to what society labeled as insanity The case also took on a personal dimension when artists found themselves confronted with or chose to engage with the legal system German courts prosecuted John Heartfield and others for their provocative works while Bertolt Brecht created publicity for himself by suing the firm to whom he sold the film rights to The Threepenny Opera Provocative and insightful The Culture of the Case offers a privileged view of the spaces of representation in which images in some instances as cases functioned at a key moment of modernity
