The John Reddisson Saga My Early Life

Brendan G. Carr

The John Reddisson Saga My Early Life:

Farming the Cutover Robert J. Gough, 1997 Farming the Cutover describes the visions and accomplishments of these settlers from their perspective. People of the cutover managed to forge lives relatively independent of market pressures and for this they were characterized as backward by outsiders and their part of the state was seen as a hideout for organized crime figures. State and federal planners, county agents and agriculture professors eventually determined that the cutover could be engineered by professional and academic expertise into a Progressive social model and the lives of its inhabitants improved. By 1940 they had begun to implement public policies that discouraged farming and they eventually decided that the region should be depopulated and the forests replanted. By exploring the history of an eighteen county region, Robert Gough illustrates the travails of farming in marginal areas. He juxtaposes the social history of the farmers with the opinions and programs of the experts who sought to improve the region. Significantly, what occurred in the Wisconsin cutover anticipated the sweeping changes that transformed American agriculture after World War II.

"A" Western Filmmakers Henryk Hoffmann, 2024-10-16. From High Noon to Unforgiven, the A Western represents the pinnacle of Western filmmaking. More intellectual, ambitious and time consuming than the readily produced B or serial Westerns, these films rely on hundreds of talented artists. This comprehensive reference work provides biographies and Western filmographies for nearly 1,000 men and women who have contributed to at least three A Westerns. These contributors are arranged by their role in film production: Cinematographers, composers, actors, actresses and directors receive complete biographical treatment; writers whose work was used in at least two Westerns are also featured. An appendix lists well-known actors who have appeared in either one or two A Westerns as specified.

Frontier Diplomats Lesley Wischmann, 2004. This dual biography highlights the human dimensions of the Upper Missouri fur trade. Focusing on two major figures, Alexander Culbertson (1809-1879), trader with the American Fur Company, founder of Fort Benton and the first white American to live among the Blackfoot Indians, and his wife Natoyist Siksina (Holy Snake, 1825-1893), daughter of Two Suns, the chief of the Blood Kainah tribe, Lesley Wischmann shows the great influence this couple had on the region. Culbertson and Natoyist Siksina worked together for thirty years to promote cooperative relations between Native inhabitants and newly arrived white adventurers and played key roles in the Fort Laramie Treaty Conference of 1851 and treaty negotiations with the Blackfoot tribes in 1855. As she tells the story of these frontier diplomats, Wischmann also challenges conventional wisdom about the character of fur traders, the nature of the Blackfoot and the role of Indian women.
