The Kubler Ross Method:

The Life Work of Dr. Elisabeth Kübler-Ross and Its Impact on the Death Awareness Movement Michèle Catherine Gantois Chaban, 2000 Ontario based clinical thanatologist Chaban traces Kubler Ross influence on the field and health science education over the past quarter century She argues that her paradigms which have dominated care of the dying in North America's health care system may work in a general way to deal with most situations of loss but may not be effective and specific enough to care for the dying or the bereaved or to provide occupational support for professional caregivers Rather she contends thanatology must begin to distinguish itself within palliative or hospice care with specific clinical educational and research considerations The treatise seems to have been a doctoral dissertation for the University of Wales The text is double spaced The computer generated index is fairly useless Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Theoretical Frameworks in Qualitative Research Vincent A. Anfara, Jr., Norma T. Mertz, 2014-10-30 The Second Edition of Theoretical Frameworks in Qualitative Research by Vincent A Anfara Jr and Norma T Mertz brings together some of today's leading qualitative researchers to discuss the frameworks behind their published qualitative studies They share how they found and chose a theoretical framework from what discipline the framework was drawn what the framework posits and how it influenced their study Both novice and experienced qualitative researchers are able to learn first hand from various contributors as they reflect on the process and decisions involved in completing their study The book also provides background for beginning researchers about the nature of theoretical frameworks and their importance in qualitative research about differences in perspective about the role of theoretical frameworks and about how to find and use a theoretical framework
