Whitney, 1996-08-29 From Coastal Wilderness to Fruited Plain is an account of the making of a large part of the American landscape following European settlement Drawing upon land survey records and early travellers accounts Dr Whitney reconstructs the virgin forests and grasslands of the north eastern and central United States during the pre settlement period He then documents successively the clearance and fragmentation of the region s woodlands the harvest of the forest and its game the ploughing of the prairies and the draining of wetlands The degree to which these activities altered the soil climate plant and animal communities and water cycle are evaluated and the sustainability of present day ecosystems is brought into question in this account      Ties, 1947      General Technical Report NE, 1980      Ecology, Planning, and Management of Urban Forests Margaret M. Carreiro, Yong-Chang Song, Jianguo Wu, 2007-10-31 It has been increasingly recognized that trees and vegetation in urban areas provide a number of ecological services beyond beautifying cities The purpose of urban forestry is to use trees and natural habitat patches to ameliorate negative environmental impacts of cities and to contribute to the creation of more livable ecological sustainable cities Ecology Planning and Management of Urban Forests takes an international approach to sharing knowledge about the management of urban forests that has been learned through studies in many different regions This allows the reader to evaluate methods and management that are appropriate for particular geographic environmental and socio political contexts Urban forests are also approached on regional and landscape scales to encompass more natural environments in and around cities rather than within arbitrary municipal boundaries Railway

Reading the Mountains of Home John Elder,1998 Small farms once occupied the heights that John Elder calls home but now only a few cellar holes and tumbled stone walls remain among the dense stands of maple beech and hemlocks on these

Vermont hills Reading the Mountains of Home is a journey into these verdant reaches where in the last century humans tried their hand and where bear and moose now find shelter As John Elder is our guide so Robert Frost is Elder s companion his great poem Directive seeing us through a landscape in which nature and literature loss and recovery are inextricably joined Over the course of a year Elder takes us on his hikes through the forested uplands between South Mountain and North Mountain reflecting on the forces of nature from the descent of the glaciers to the rush of the New Haven River that shaped a plateau for his village of Bristol and on the human will that denuded and farmed and abandoned the mountains so many years ago His forays wind through the flinty relics of nineteenth century homesteads and Abenaki settlements leading to meditations on both human failure and the possibility for deeper communion with the land and others An exploration of the body and soul of a place an interpretive map of its natural and literary life Reading the Mountains of Home strikes a moving balance between the pressures of civilization and the attraction of wilderness It is a beautiful work of nature writing in which human nature finds its place where the reader is invited to follow the last line of Frost s Directive to Drink and be whole again beyond confusion
