The Deathly Embrace Sheng-mei Ma, 2000 Asian American resistance to Orientalism the Western tradition dealing with the subject and subjugation of the East is usually assumed And yet as this provocative work demonstrates in order to refute racist stereotypes they must first be evoked and in the process the two often become entangled Sheng mei Ma shows how the distinguished careers of post 1960s Asian American writers such as Maxine Hong Kingston Amy Tan Frank Chin and David Henry Hwang reveal that while Asian American identity is constructed in reaction to Orientalism the two cultural forces are not necessarily at odds The vigor with which these Asian Americans revolt against Orientalism in fact tacitly acknowledges the family lineage of the two

Suter,2020-05-31 In this study Rebecca Suter aims to complicate our understanding of world literature by examining the creative and critical deployment of cultural stereotypes in the early novels of Kazuo Ishiguro World literature has come under increasing scrutiny in recent years Aamir Mufti called it the result of one world thinking the legacy of an imperial system of cultural mapping from a unified perspective Suter views Ishiguro s fiction as an important alternative to this paradigm Born in Japan raised in the United Kingdom and translated into a broad range of languages Ishiguro has throughout his career consciously used his multiple cultural positioning to produce texts that look at broad human concerns in a significantly different way Through a close reading of his early narrative strategies Suter explains how Ishiguro has been able to create a two world literature that addresses universal human concerns and avoids the pitfalls of the single Western centric perspective of one world vision Setting his first two novels A Pale View of Hills 1982 and An Artist of the Floating World 1986 in a Japan explicitly used as a metaphor enabled Ishiguro to parody and subvert Western stereotypes about Japan and by extension challenge the universality of Western values This subversion was amplified in his third novel The Remains of the Day 1989 which is perfectly legible through both English and Japanese cultural paradigms Building on this subversion of stereotypes Ishiguro's early work investigates the complex relationship between social conditioning and agency showing how characters' behavior is related to their cultural heritage but cannot be reduced to it This approach lies at the core of the author's compelling portrayal of human experience in more recent works such as Never Let Me Go 2005 and The Buried Giant 2015 which earned Ishiguro a global audience and a Nobel Prize Deprived of the easy explanations of one world thinking readers of Ishiguro's two world literature are forced to appreciate the complexity of the interrelation of individual and collective identity personal and historical memory and influence and agency to gain a more nuanced two world appreciation of human experience
