CARP Scott Magruder,1991-12 A Beginners Guide to Writing and Publishing Visual Walkthrough Guides Murray Fife,2015-11-15 I don t know if you all have noticed but over the past couple of years I have been able to publish a couple of books They re not the Da Vinci Code but they do uncover a couple of secrets here and there The number one question that I get from people is How do I write the books so quickly and the second most common question is When do you find the time to write the books The answer is that I have fine tuned the process of authoring walkthrough guides over the years and by creating templates and also automating a lot of the formatting work through macros and pre built templates The creation of the content happens automatically as I document processes for myself and the publishing of the content becomes a simple byproduct As a result I am able to share everything that I learn with you all in a easy to follow format I think that this is something that everyone should be able to do and want to teach everybody that this isn t rocket science and that you shouldn t be afraid of writing and sharing your knowledge with the rest of the community Heck if I can do it everybody should be able to And along the way you all could make a little bit of pocket money as well And to make this even better I self publish and it doesn t really cost me a cent out of pocket The Successful Consultant's Guide to Authoring, Publishing & Lecturing Hubert Ingram Bermont,1979
