The Vaal Uprising of 1984 & the Struggle for Freedom in South Africa Franziska Rueedi,2021 Offers new insights into the struggle against Apartheid and the poverty and inequality that instigated political resistance Acid Mine Drainage and its Governance in the Gauteng City-Region Kerry Bobbins,2015-05-29 Acid mine drainage AMD has generated an enormous amount of media interest and public concern in the Gauteng City Region GCR over the last decade However it has been framed as a narrow technical concern with government action being directed towards securing the necessary engineering and processing solutions as quickly as possible to prevent decant and treat acid mine water to industrial standards This has arguably limited the scope for full discussion and debate on the impacts of AMD particularly for the environment and this bears implications for how AMD has been managed in the GCR Government s immediate short and long term interventions to address AMD have been set out as a straight forward solution but over time more complex environmental concerns have emerged Becoming more evident over the last few years is that one of the main impacts of AMD will be its effect on the overall water security in the Vaal River System VRS on which the GCR relies for its supply of potable water Limits on water abstraction from the VRS together with the increasing need to maintain the overall water quality in the system through dilution and treatment activities means that AMD is beginning to manifest as a binding constraint on economic development and a burden on society in particular via escalating costs for water consumers Fiscal constraints are likely to see GCR residents and businesses pick up more and more of the costs associated with the treatment of AMD through the format of increased municipal tariffs With final decisions on municipal tariffs now pending the broader yet invisible impacts of AMD loom large This means that the debate has moved far beyond the issue of predicted decant in each of the Witwatersrand s mining basins Water security for the GCR and who will carry the costs associated with the long term treatment of AMD have instead taken centre stage This paper carefully updates the historical record on AMD since the publishing of a GCRO Provocation on the issue in 2010 In doing so it argues that the way in which AMD has been governed raises a flag around how the political economy of an issue such as AMD should be understood publicly debated and managed In particular it suggests that the governance of an environmental challenge such as AMD is not only about finding a technical solution The lack of platforms to ensure well informed public deliberation especially over such issues as who will pay and how must be addressed to ensure more equitable and transparent decision making In light of the broader mine waste legacy inherited by the GCR and the strong likelihood of environmental contamination becoming more commonplace in the future these concerns are not only limited to AMD They will only grow in importance over time South Africa's Water Predicament Anja du Plessis,2023-01-13 The book provides a critical evaluation of South Africa s freshwater resources to illustrate the way in which its freshwater resources water access services and infrastructure have continued to decline over the past three decades The continued decline of water governance management water service delivery dilapidated water infrastructure dysfunctional local governments and overall excessive water degradation is illustrated and emphasized using real life examples and case studies from various contexts within the country The main argument of the book is that South Africa s freshwater resources have declined to such an extent that it can be described as a predicament Questionable water governance decisions and reactive water management practices have led to no improvement and or increased degradation of freshwater resources An overall lack of service delivery exists across the country in various contexts leading to further water and social decline An inter disciplinary evaluation of South Africa s current water predicament is provided major water crises are prioritized and suitable recommendations are given to transform its predicament into problems which can be addressed Suitable background information is given to emphasize the necessity of good water governance management and service delivery South Africa s freshwater resources are evaluated with specific focus on the decline of informed water governance management service delivery and water quality Factors requiring urgent attention are determined and suitable recommendations and or actions are provided An evaluation and overall synthesis focused on the transformation of the predicament into problems is provided Primary water problems are prioritized according to urgency and suitable recommendations are given to assist in transforming the country s current complex water predicament into simpler water problems Political will collaboration with researchers stakeholders non governmental organizations and cooperation of civil society is required South Africa s already scarce freshwater resources and decaying infrastructure will persist and possibly collapse if no major actions or interventions are implemented

Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen, 2023-02-01 In South African higher education the images of dysfunction are everywhere Student protests Violence Police presence Rubber or real bullets

Class disruptions Burning tyres Damaged buildings Injury and sometimes death Reports of wholesale corruption Year after year often in the same set of universities the problem of routine instability seems insoluble The financial academic and reputational costs of ongoing dysfunction are high especially for those universities caught up in the never ending struggle to overcome apartheid legacies Any number of explanations have been ventured including a lack of resources shortage of capacity rural location corrupt officials and endemic conflict Corrupted takes a deeper look at dysfunction in an attempt to unravel the root causes in a sample of South African universities At the heart of the problem lies the vexed issue of resources or more pertinently the relationship between resources and power who gets what and why Whatever else it aspires to be commonly a place of teaching learning research and public duty a university in an impoverished community is also a rich concentration of resources around which corrupt staff students and those outside of campus all vie for access Taking a political economic approach Jonathan Jansen describes the daily struggle for institutional resources and offers accessible sensible insights He argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Rather durable solutions would include the depoliticisation of university councils and appointments of academics with integrity and capacity to manage and lead these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly

Rescaling municipal governance amidst political competition in Gauteng: Sedibeng's proposed re-demarcation Thembani Mkhize, 2021-08-27 In 2011 the Gauteng Provincial Government proposed that Sedibeng a Category C district municipality located in the province should be restructured Although the original proposal had anticipated that this would happen after the 2016 local elections the issue remains unresolved due largely to fierce party political opposition and vociferous protests against it on the ground This Occasional Paper examines the dynamics particularities peculiarities and challenges of re demarcating the Gauteng City Region While informed by technical reasons the arguments for and against the merger have tended to gravitate more towards party political rationales for why the re demarcation should or should not go ahead Although these debates raise important merits and demerits for the proposal they are difficult to disentangle from the interests of those whose fortunes would be changed by restructuring In this environment municipal demarcation risks being held hostage by party politics with stakeholders such as political parties using any means at their disposal to have things go their way including by scapegoating the Municipal Demarcation Board MDB The case of Sedibeng presents important lessons about attempts to make post transition local government and mechanisms for determining its configuration work for Gauteng It also highlights the need for strengthening and revising demarcation related legislation How can we make sure that the MDB functions effectively with respect to its primary goals

Social Constructions of Water Quality in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2022-05-04 This book details how the water quality of the Blesbokspruit River in Gauteng South Africa was socially constructed by stakeholders and key individuals in the context of acid mine drainage AMD and its treatment Social constructionism is used as the framing for this research to explain how water is intrinsically social Findings presented here show that stakeholders are aware that the changes in the physicality of the Blesbokspruit resulted from human interventions and varied uses of the water over the years Such knowledge among factors such as the historical context of mining current coal mining flows and volumes of water technology used and processes followed information and communication and vested interests influence social constructions of the water quality What counts as the truth about water varies depending on the individual s perspective their purpose and their individual interests Further how one defines water quality influences what treatment processes are preferred in order to improve water quality The book explains why for example a treatment process meant to improve water quality gained a bad reputation by the public because of the South African government s silo approach The book explains how these social constructions are entrenched in power relations between stakeholders regarding AMD treatment and illustrates how power was used to influence decisions to improve the water quality of the Blesbokspruit The case presented in this book offers insights and recommendations for policymakers working in water governance including means to influence social constructions of water quality and ways to clarify roles and responsibilities in pursuit of improved cooperative government Proceedings and List of Members South African Chemical Institute,1937 Minerals Yearbook ,2010 Water as an Inescapable Risk Anja du Plessis,2018-12-15 The book presents an interdisciplinary systematic evaluation of increasing water stress and scarcity over the globe and specifically South Africa South Africa is used as the prime example as the country is experiencing similar water challenges in terms of availability and quality as most regions across the globe Water availability is predominantly used to illustrate water scarcity however continued degradation of the world s freshwater resources by a multitude of natural and anthropogenic factors have consequently exacerbated water stress and scarcity due to it being of insufficient quality for various uses The increase of water scarcity through both natural and anthropogenic factors has in turn led to water being viewed as an increasing risk within all spheres Water as a source of conflict has come to the forefront especially within regions which struggle to meet the increasing demands from different water users and trying to achieve future sustainability of the resource The increase of water scarcity and stress as well as the continued pressure of population and economic growth has brought various new challenges into play This book focuses on water as an increasing risk over the globe and specifically South Africa by reviewing both water availability and quality evaluating water as a global and national risk The book concludes by focusing on current limitations necessary strategic actions as well as possible policy related changes which may be required to adapt to future water challenges and to lessen water as an increasing risk Afro tropical Streams and Rivers Tatenda Dalu, Frank Masese,2024-11-09 The Afro tropical Streams and Rivers Structure Ecological Processes and Management is a comprehensive guide that provides assessment of major rivers and tributaries in Africa Unlike other books available the editors present a thorough study of geomorphological hydrological biological and ecological processes incorporating a range
