1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem clearly. This involves identifying the symptoms, the scope of the problem, and the impact it is having on the organization.

2. Once the problem has been defined, the next step is to gather information. This involves conducting research, talking to stakeholders, and looking for data that can help to understand the problem better.

3. The third step is to analyze the information. This involves looking for patterns, identifying causes, and determining the root of the problem.

4. The fourth step is to develop a solution. This involves brainstorming ideas, evaluating options, and selecting the best solution.

5. The fifth step is to implement the solution. This involves putting the solution into action, monitoring progress, and making adjustments as needed.

6. The final step is to evaluate the results. This involves assessing the effectiveness of the solution, identifying lessons learned, and determining if the problem has been solved.
