

Laboratory Activity 42 — Student Laboratory Packet Making Connections A Laboratory Activity for the Living Environment

Measuring Connections

In this online laboratory, students are given feedback on answers to the online test. But students themselves have selected their progress reports to be shared. Whether their progress indicates all learning objectives met or some progress is still being made, the information is provided to all stakeholders. This online virtual assessment is a study of the progress that you as students have made in your learning and their learning.

Following and explaining connections to new or other topics involves a solid understanding of the world around us. It is a learning goal in all subjects. Therefore, the connections you are asked to explain are meaningful. And connections are what leads to a solid understanding of the world around us. This is a key learning objective.

In this part of the laboratory activity, you will explain the connections between yourself and your classroom. You will explain the connections between you and the world around you.

Activity

Students in the online laboratory and laboratory activity will be asked to explain connections to their learning and to the world around them. You will explain the connections between you and the world around you.

Another important objective of the laboratory activity is to explain the connections between you and the world around you. This is a learning goal in all subjects.
