Sustainable Communities Robert Rogerson, Sue Sadler, Anne Green, 2011-06 Drawing upon interdisciplinary research conducted across various universities within the United Kingdom this book offers insights into how local initiatives can enhance sustainable development and engage people in creating better places in which to live Demonstrating how to embed sustainability in all levels of education this account contains imaginative practical and accessible ways in which communities and built environment professionals are working towards a more sustainable future Themes such as sustainable development community coherence conflict resolution planning and environmental management will interest those in a variety of fields including architecture urban design and geography

Social Movement to Address Climate Change Danielle Endres, Leah M. Sprain, Tarla Rai Peterson, 2009 Deniers of climate change have benefited from political strategies developed by conservative think tanks and public relations experts paid handsomely by the energy industry With this book environmental activists can benefit from some scholarly attention turned to their efforts This book exhibits the best that public scholarship has to offer Its authors utilize sophisticated rhetorical theory and criticism to uncover the intentional constraints and possibilities for participants at various sites of the Step It Up day of climate activism What makes this book especially valuable is that it is not only directed to fellow communication scholars but is written in a clear and accessible style to bring the insights of an academic field to a broader public of activists committed to building an environmental social movement Prof Leah Ceccarelli University of Washington This is an unusually interesting volume grounded in a sustained and coordinated analysis of the Step It Up campaign Generating a multifaceted and shared archive for analyzing the SIU campaign on global warming the volume s multiple authors critically examine intersecting dimensions of the SIU campaign its persuasive strategies organizational dynamics and political practices for everyday citizens with an eye on implications for enhancing the larger environmental movement Readers with a practical and theoretical interest in social and political movements will find this book engaging and leavened with heuristic value Professor Robert L Ivie Indiana University Bloomington

Greening Citizenship A. Scerri, 2012-08-21 The greening of citizenship the state and ideology has created both opportunities and bottlenecks for progressive political movements Scerri argues that these are pursuing justice by making holistic demands for fair distribution and status recognition adequate representation and effective participation

After Sustainable Cities? Mike Hodson, Simon Marvin, 2014-04-24 A sustainable city has been defined in many ways Yet

the most common understanding is a vision of the city that is able to meet the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs Central to this vision are two ideas cities should meet social needs especially of the poor and not exceed the ability of the global environment to meet needs After Sustainable Cities critically reviews what has happened to these priorities and asks whether these social commitments have been abandoned in a period of austerity governance and climate change and replaced by a darker and unfair city This book provides the first comprehensive and comparative analysis of the new eco logics reshaping conventional sustainable cities discourse and environmental priorities of cities in both the global north and south The dominant discourse on sustainable cities with a commitment to intergenerational equity social justice and global responsibility has come under increasing pressure Under conditions of global ecological change international financial and economic crisis and austerity governance new eco logics are entering the urban sustainability lexicon climate change green growth smart growth resilience and vulnerability ecological security This book explores how these new eco logics reshape our understanding of equity justice and global responsibility and how these more technologically and economically driven themes resonate and dissonate with conventional sustainable cities discourse This book provides a warning that a more technologically driven and narrowly constructed economic agenda is driving ecological policy and weakening previous commitment to social justice and equity After Sustainable Cities brings together leading researchers to provide a critical examination of these new logics and identity what sort of city is now emerging as well as consider the longer term implication on sustainable cities research and policy

Handbook of Sustainable Development Giles Atkinson,Simon Dietz,Eric Neumayer,Matthew Agarwala,2014-09-26 This timely and important Handbook takes stock of progress made in our understanding of what sustainable development actually is and how it can be measured and achieved Sustainable Disposal Methods of Food Wastes in Hospitality Operations Singh, Amrik,Tyagi, Pankaj Kumar,Garg, Anshul,2024-03-06 Food waste has evolved into a global crisis casting a long shadow over nations and the interconnected fabric of our world The repercussions of this excess reverberate through environmental and socio economic landscapes demanding immediate attention Globally the challenge of reducing food waste is acknowledged as a linchpin in achieving a sustainable future The book Sustainable Disposal Methods of Food Wastes in Hospitality Operations confronts this escalating issue head on It contends that the time is ripe for a change in waste disposal practices advocating for sustainable methods to alleviate environmental strain combat climate change and safeguard public health This book delves into the heart of waste management principles and strategies Beyond identifying the severity of the issue the book ventures into uncharted territories exploring emergent debates surrounding systemic causes and solutions In a world where information and communication technology empower organizations a gap persists in translating these advancements into effective waste management initiatives The book urges a holistic understanding of the issue drawing attention to the need for collaborative efforts between governments and private industry players to bridge this divide As it provides a global perspective the handbook becomes a tool for those seeking to comprehend the intricate web of challenges posed by food waste and navigate towards a sustainable future

Postpolitics and the Limits of Nature Andy Scerri, 2018-11-30 In Postpolitics and the Limits of Nature Andy Scerri offers a comprehensive overview of the critical theory project from the 1960s to the present refracted through the lens of US politics and the American Left He examines why past generations of radical ecological and social justice scholarship have been ineffective in the fight against injustice and rampant environmental exploitation Scerri then engages a new wave of radicals and reformists who in the wake of the Occupy movement and the 2016 presidential election are reinventing the radical project as a challenge to injustice in the Anthropocene era Along the way he provides a fresh account of the thought of one of the major contributors to critical theory Theodor Adorno and of recent work that seeks to link Adorno's ideas to the so called new realism in political philosophy and political theory

Lead Wars Gerald Markowitz, David Rosner, 2014-08-15 In this incisive examination of lead poisoning during the past half century Gerald Markowitz and David Rosner focus on one of the most contentious and bitter battles in the history of public health Lead Wars details how the nature of the epidemic has changed and highlights the dilemmas public health agencies face today in terms of prevention strategies and chronic illness linked to low levels of toxic exposure The authors use the opinion by Maryland's

Court of Appeals which considered whether researchers at Johns Hopkins University's prestigious Kennedy Krieger Institute KKI engaged in unethical research on 108 African American children as a springboard to ask fundamental questions about the practice and future of public health Lead Wars chronicles the obstacles faced by public health workers in the conservative pro business anti regulatory climate that took off in the Reagan years and that stymied efforts to eliminate lead from the environments and the bodies of American children

Eco-Homes Doctor Jenny Pickerill, 2016-01-15 It is widely understood that good affordable eco housing needs to be at the heart of any attempt to mitigate or adapt to climate change This is the first book to comprehensively explore eco housing from a geographical social and political perspective It starts from the premise that we already know how to build good eco houses and we already have the technology to retrofit existing housing Despite this relatively few eco houses are being built Featuring over thirty case studies of eco housing in Britain Spain Thailand Argentina and the United States Eco Homes examines the ways in which radical changes to our houses such as making them more temporary using natural materials or relying on manual heating and ventilation systems require changes in how we live As such it argues it is not lack of technology or political will that is holding us back from responding to climate change but deep rooted cultural and social understandings of our way of life and what we expect our houses to do for us

Higher Education and the Challenge of Sustainability Peter Blaze Corcoran, Arjen E.J. Wals, 2007-05-08 Sustainability challenges universities around the world to rethink their missions and to re structure their courses research programs and life on campus Graduates are increasingly exposed to notions of sustainability which are emotionally politically ethically and scientifically charged They must be able to deal with conflicting norms and values uncertain outcomes and futures and a changing knowledge base At the same time they will need to be able to contextualize knowledge in an increasingly globalized society This book provides a variety of valuable theoretical and practical resources for students teachers researchers and administrators who seek to integrate sustainability in higher education Sustainability is not only explored as both an outcome and a process of learning but as a catalyst for educational change and institutional innovation The book raises the various problematics related to this inchoate field and provides an intellectual history and critical assessment of the prospects for institutionalizing sustainability in higher education
