Section 15.1 Natural Selection and the Evidence for Evolution

In your notebook, read about Charles Darwin and natural selection.

For each statement, write true or false.

- _____ 1. H.M.S. Beagle, upon which Charles Darwin served as naturalist, set sail on a collecting and mapping expedition in 1851.
- _____ 2. The environments that Darwin studied exhibited little biological diversity.
- _____ 3. By careful anatomical study, Darwin found that the many species of plants and animals on the Galapagos Islands were unique and bore no relation to species seen in other parts of the world.
- _____ 4. The tortoises of the Galapagos Islands are among the largest on Earth.
- _____ 5. After returning to England, Darwin studied his collections for 10 years.
- _____ 6. Darwin named the process by which evolution proceeds artificial selection.

You are a naturalist who traveled to the Galapagos Islands. Below are excerpts from field notes. Next to each set of notes, write a heading. Use these choices: Overproduction of Offspring, Natural Selection, Struggle for Existence, Variation.

7.

Field Notes

Female finches found on the Galapagos Islands lay enormous numbers of eggs.

Field Notes

These finches compete for a particular species of insect that inhabits the small holes found in tree bark.

Field Notes

Some finches' beaks are long, some are short. The finches with long beaks are better adapted to remove the insects from the bark.

10.

Field Notes

The finches with the long beaks survive and produce greater numbers of offspring with long beaks.

Theoretical Aspects of Evolutionary Computing Leila Kallel,Bart Naudts,Alex Rogers,2013-03-09 During the first week of September 1999 the Second EvoNet Summer School on Theoretical Aspects of Evolutionary Computing was held at the Middelheim campus of the University of Antwerp Belgium Originally intended as a small get together of PhD students interested in the theory of evolutionary computing the summer school grew to become a successful combination of a four day workshop with over twenty researchers in the field and a two day lecture series open to a wider audience This book is based on the lectures and workshop contributions of this summer school Its first part consists of tutorial papers which introduce the reader to a number of important directions in the theory of evolutionary computing The tutorials are at graduate level and assume only a basic background in mathematics and computer science No prior knowledge of evolutionary computing or its theory is necessary The second part of the book consists of technical papers selected from the workshop contributions A number of them build on the material of the tutorials exploring the theory to research level Other technical papers may require a visit to the library CMA Examination Review: Outlines and study guides Irvin N. Advanced Fuzzy Systems

Design and Applications Yaochu Jin, 2012-12-06 Fuzzy rule systems have found a wide range of applications in many fields of science and technology. Traditionally, fuzzy rules are generated from human expert knowledge or human heuristics for relatively simple systems. In the last few years, data-driven fuzzy rule generation has been very active. Compared to heuristic fuzzy rules, fuzzy rules generated from data are able to extract more profound knowledge for more complex systems. This book presents a number of approaches to the generation of fuzzy rules from data, ranging from the direct fuzzy inference based to neural networks and evolutionary algorithms based fuzzy rule generation. Besides the approximation accuracy, special attention has been paid to the interpretability of the extracted fuzzy rules. In other words, the fuzzy rules generated from data are supposed to be as comprehensible to human beings as those generated from human heuristics. To this end, many aspects of interpretability of fuzzy systems have been discussed, which must be taken into account in the data-driven fuzzy rule generation. In this way, fuzzy rules generated from data are intelligible to human users and therefore knowledge about unknown systems can be extracted.

Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education Barreto, Isabel María Gómez, 2021-06-11 Migration movements have been a constant in the societies of the past as well as in postmodern society. However, in the past ten years, the increase in political, economic, and religious conflict amongst nations, the increase of the poverty index, and many and various natural disasters have duplicated the forced displacement of millions of people across the seven continents of the planet. This situation brings important challenges in terms of the vulnerability, inequity, and discrimination that certain peoples suffer. Professionals from the fields of the social sciences, education, psychology, and international law share the fact that education represents an opportunity for children and young migrants to become members with full rights in the societies they arrive in. Empirical studies show that the implementation of the right to education for migrants presents some challenges and dilemmas to the governments of host countries and more specifically to the education centers, NGOs, universities, and the professionals working in them, hence the need for more research on these issues of immigration, refugees, social justice, and intercultural education. The Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education provides visibility to issues such as the increase in migration and displacement and the difficulties in political agreements, educational contexts, and in cultural issues, stigmatization, vulnerability, social exclusion, racism, and hatred amongst host communities. This book gives possible solutions to this current complex situation and helps foster and promote sensitivity, perspective, and critical thinking for a respectful and tolerant coexistence and promotion of equity and social justice. The chapters promote cultural diversity and inclusion in classrooms by offering knowledge, strategies, and research on organizational development for educational institutions and multicultural environments. This book is essential for administrators, policymakers, leaders, teachers, practitioners, researchers, academicians, and students interested in the promotion of social justice in education for immigrants and refugees.
