

1. Introduction

This document describes the Scan & Store feature specially built into this particular barcode scanner. All the information concerning the operation and configuration of this feature is contained herein and this document acts as a supplement instead of replacement to the user's manual.

2. Scan & Store

A large capacity non-volatile memory (32 KB EEPROM) is built into this scanner. Data can be store in this memory instead of transmitting them when barcodes are read. The data stored in the memory can be transmitted to the computer in a batch way upon user's demand.

This scanner can even work like a simple portable data collector, if the optional battery pack is attached. Since the memory for storing data is non-volatile, the scanner can be powered on and off without losing data. The data is erased (cleared) only when user requests to do so.

3. Operation Mode

This Scan & Store feature is an enhancement to the original scanner. All the features and functions described in the user's manual are still supported and remain unchanged. This scanner can work like a normal scanner (without Scan & Store function) if user desires.

What follows is the configuration procedure for enabling/disabling the Scan & Store function.

1. Read the "Start" label if the scanner is not in configuration mode. There will be 6 beeps to indicate that the scanner is in configuration mode.
2. Read the "Enable Scan & Store" label to enable the function, or "Disable Scan & Store" label to disable it. The scanner will beep twice after label is read.
3. Exit the configuration mode by reading the "Exit" label. There will be total 7 beeps from the scanner, including the power on beep after the scanner restarts itself.
