Developmental Psychology: Part 2

Overview of the stages:

Introduction

- Adolescence refers to the stage of human development that follows middle childhood (12–19 years).
- Traditionally, adolescence is seen as an emotionally turbulent and difficult stage of development. Hall coined the term storm and stress to describe it.
- There is a growing argument that adolescence is not necessarily a traumatic process, but rather differs between cultures, within families and for individuals.
- Early adulthood is considered the longest stage in the human life span (20–39 years).
- This is followed by middle adulthood (40–59 years) and
- late adulthood (60 years and older).

Physical development during adolescence

- Physical development in adolescence starts with the hormonal and bodily changes of puberty.
- Puberty leads to the development of primary and secondary sexual characteristics, and includes a growth spurt.
- Pubescence is the term used to describe the two-year span preceding puberty during which the changes leading to physical and sexual maturity take place.
- During this period, children grow taller and heavier and develop secondary sex characteristics, physical features that distinguish one sex from the other but that are not essential for reproduction.
